CHAIRPERSON'S MESSAGE

At Gudha Public School, we believe that education is not merely the transfer of knowledge but the shaping of character, vision, and compassion. Success, to us, is never a solitary achievement; it is the collective harvest of parents' faith, teachers' dedication, and students' perseverance. Our mission is to nurture young minds into empathetic thinkers and courageous leaders who can balance the wisdom of tradition with the demands of modern innovation. As Mahatma Gandhi reminded us, "The best way to find you is to lose yourself in the service of others." Guided by this philosophy, we have created a campus that breathes — a tranquil haven where nature and technology coexist, and where every classroom becomes a living ecosystem of discovery.

We emphasize higher-order thinking, creativity, and digital fluency, ensuring that our children are not just consumers of knowledge but creators of ideas. Yet, beyond academics, we place equal importance on empathy, resilience, and integrity, for these is the true foundations of leadership in a rapidly changing world.

Since the inception of Gudha Education Trust in 2006, our vision has remained steadfast: to provide holistic education that empowers students to excel intellectually, emotionally, and socially. With the establishment of Gudha Public School, Neem Ka Thana, our fifth branch, we continue this journey of excellence, determined to prepare every child not only for success in examinations but for success in life. We aspire to raise harbingers of change — individuals who will leave the world better than they found it.

Warm regards,
(Sampat Beniwal)

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY

It is with deep pride and heartfelt gratitude that I welcome you to this special edition of Insignia as we celebrate the Third Session of Gudha Public School. In 2024 we inaugurated our fifth branch in Neem Ka Thana, extending our commitment to accessible, high-quality education. From the outset our aim has been to nurture curious minds, strong character, and creative spirits; today that aim is reflected in the achievements of our students, the dedication of our faculty, and the trust of our families.

Our progress rests on three enduring pillars: academic innovation that keeps learning relevant and future-ready; a safe, inclusive environment where every learner feels respected and empowered to take intellectual risks; and a steadfast emphasis on character and manners that shapes responsible, compassionate citizens. I thank our teachers for their tireless passion, our parents for their unwavering partnership, and our students for embodying the values of GPS with enthusiasm and integrity.

As we honor the milestones that brought us here, we also renew our promise to prepare young people for the challenges and opportunities ahead—equipping them with knowledge, resilience, and moral purpose. MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR "Education is not merely the acquisition of knowledge; it is the journey of discovering one's potential, nurturing values, and preparing for a meaningful life. Our vision is to inspire every child to dream, achieve, and become a responsible global citizen."

Education extends far beyond textbooks and classrooms. It is a lifelong process of nurturing knowledge, character, creativity, and compassion. Be an Educated person rather than a literate.

It is my pleasure to present the second edition of our school magazine 'INSIGNIA' — a celebration of curiosity, craft, and the courageous voices of Gudha Public School. This magazine is more than a compilation of essays and artwork; it is a living archive of our students' ideas, questions, and creative experiments. Each contribution here is a small act of courage: a poem that reaches for feeling, an article that wrestles with complexity, a sketch that captures a moment of wonder.

As PGT English, I believe language transforms thought and builds bridges between people and perspectives. In these pages you will find that transformation at work: analytical essays that think clearly, imaginative pieces that feel deeply, and projects that blend academic rigor with inventive spirit. That interdisciplinary spirit is the heartbeat of this edition.

I extend heartfelt thanks to our Principal Dr. P. K. Bhati, the Editorial Team, and every student who submitted work. Your dedication and honesty make this magazine possible. To those who shared their first drafts, bold ideas, and late-night revisions: your voice matters.

May this edition spark curiosity, nurture empathy, and inspire you to keep creating. Read widely, reflect deeply, and let these pages remind you that learning is both a craft and a calling.

MY TRIP TO UDAIPUR

I went on a family trip to Udaipur, the City of Lakes. It is a very beautiful city in Rajasthan. First, we visited Lake Pichhola. We enjoyed a fun boat ride in the lake. The water was shining and the view of the palace was amazing. I felt very happy there. Then we went to the City Palace. It is very big and grand. I learned about our brave kings and queens and how they protected our land. I saw old weapons, paintings and royal rooms. We also visited Shrinathji Temple, which was peaceful and beautiful. At Haldighati, I learned about Maharana Pratap and his brave horse Chetak. I felt proud of our history.

In the evening we ate tasty street food near the lake. The lights on the water looked like stars. This trip was full of fun, learning and happy memories. I will never forget my trip to Udaipur!

with every day there's a new turn.
Books and pencils, friends to meet;
learning together is so sweet.

My School Life Experience

School life is the most beautiful and memorable part of my life. It is a place where we learn not only subjects but also values, discipline, and friendship. Every day at school brings new experiences and happiness.

Each day begins with the morning assembly, which fills us with positive thoughts. In the classroom, our teachers guide us, help us learn lessons, and teach with love and patience. They are kind, honest, and confident. I enjoy subjects like English, Mathematics, and Science, but the games period is my favourite.

School is also a place of fun and friendship. Playing with friends, sharing lunch, and celebrating festivals make school life joyful. Annual functions, Sports Day, and competitions give us a chance to show our talents and learn teamwork.

I feel happy and proud to be a student. School life teaches us discipline, good manners, and cooperation. I will always remember my school days.

THE WONDERS OF SCIENCE

Science is magic we can see;
It helps us learn and sets us free.
From stars above to oceans deep,
It shows us secrets we can keep.
Robots, computers, and machines so bright
Make our work easy and our future light.
In labs we mix, we learn, we play,
Discovering new things every day.
Electricity, rockets, and medicines too —
Science brings wonders for me and you.
So let's explore, let's question, let's try;
With science and knowledge, we reach the sky.

DO YOUR BEST

If you always try your best, you'll never wonder what might have been.
If you'd summoned all your thunder, you'd know you gave it everything.
And if your best fell short of hope,
you can still say with honesty:
"I gave today all that I had in me."

WATER

Water is a very important part of our lives. It is one of nature's most precious gifts to mankind. There is no life on Earth without water. Water is a colourless, tasteless liquid that covers almost 71% of the planet. The water cycle shows how Earth's water recycles itself: evaporation, condensation, cloud formation, and precipitation. This continuous cycle happens because of the sun's heat and gravity.

— Divija, III BO

SAVE EARTH

Earth is special, Earth is dear;
Keep it clean year after year.
Trees give us air to breathe,
So don't cut them down beneath.
Water, animals, and sky so blue,
All need care from me and you.
Let's protect our lovely land;
Together we can make a stand.

— Satvik, III BO

DON'T GIVE UP

If you keep on going and never stop, you can reach the top.
Life is full of mountains,
some big and some small;
you can overcome them,
you can conquer them all.
So keep on going, try and don't stop– hold to your courage and climb to the top.

–Divyanshu, IV MNS

NEVER GIVE UP

If I make a mistake, I will retake, and do it once again, though I may feel the pain.
Yet there lies a prize that helps me realise:
even if I fail, it becomes a learning trail.
If I hope for a medal or a shining cup,
I cannot rely on luck; I must never give up.
I will work hard each day to show the world my worth.

ONCE I SAW A LITTLE BIRD

Once I saw a little bird,
Came hop, hop, hop.
I cried, "Little bird,
Will you stop, stop, stop?"
I was going to the window
To say, "How do you do?"
But he shook his little tail
And away he flew.

LITTLE STEPS BIG DREAMS

We come to school with smiles each day,
Ready to learn, ready to play.
Books in our bags, hopes in our eyes,
Dreams growing bigger, reaching the skies.
We share, we care, and always try our best;
Learning new things is our joyful quest.
Little steps now, dreams shining bright—
Together we will make our future light.

–Suryansh, IV RM

A SMALL CHILD WITH A BIG DREAM

I am a small child, but I have big dreams. My dream is to make the world a better place. Every day I see people throwing garbage on the roads, wasting water, and cutting trees. This makes me sad. I believe if everyone does one small good thing, our world can become clean and happy.

Children are not weak; we can become powerful by changing our habits. I switch off lights when they are not needed, tell my friends not to waste water, and plant small plants, caring for them like friends. I want a world where the sky is blue, rivers are clean, and birds sing freely. My small steps today can make a big change tomorrow. I may be small in age, but my dream is very big. Big dreams begin in small hearts.

–Priyanshu, IV BH

WATER

Water is natural, water is pure;
Water is healthy–of that be sure.
Water is precious, clear, and free;
Drink lots each day for you and me.
Water is life; that is for sure–
Keep it clean and drink some more.

–Vanshika, II BO

LITTLE THINGS

Little drops of water, little grains of sand,
Make the mighty ocean and the beautiful land.
And the little moments, humble though they be,
Make the mighty ages of eternity.
So our little errors lead the soul away,
From paths of virtue into sin to stray.
Little deeds of kindness, little words of love,
Make our earth an Eden, like the heaven above.

–Apoorva, IV KM

LITTLE BIRD HOPPING

Little bird hopping on the ground,
Looking for food all around.
Chirp, chirp, what a happy sound,
Flying softly without a bound.
Little bird, so light and free,
Singing sweetly on a tree.

Anaya Garg, IV KM

STAY CALM

Do not fear the wars of now, nor dread the battles you have won.
What matters most is still unknown —
the things that are to come.
Gloom may drag you down to places where you cannot hold the pain,
But when courage is found, hope returns — a brilliant gain.
Hope will not be suppressed,
however far you sink in night;
The mind's bright synergy endures and guides you toward the light.
Today, stay calm and be strong;
if you have done no wrong,
Stand steady, keep your courage, and let your heart stay strong.

THE RESPECT

Stop and think, Stop and think
Before you speak, Before you act
The word we say, And how we act,
Cannot always be taken back
Show respect, Show respect!

MY NEPAL TRIP

During my summer vacation, I went to Nepal with my family. It was a fun and exciting trip.

First, we reached Darbhanga. From there, we drive to Janakpur. We visited the beautiful Janaki Temple and the Ram Sita Vivah Mandap. I liked the temples very much.

Then, we took a flight to Kathmandu. We visited Budhanilkantha Temple, Pashupatinath Temple, Boudhanath Stupa, and Swayambhunath Stupa. They were very beautiful and peaceful. I learned many new things about Nepal.

Next, we flew to Pokhara and drive to Jomsom. We visited the famous Muktinath Temple. It is dedicated to Lord Vishnu. I saw the 108 water spouts. People believe they are a symbol of purity. I prayed with my family.

After that, we drive back to Pokhara. We visited Davis Falls, Gupteshwor Mahadev Cave, and the Shanti Stupa. The waterfall was lovely, and the cave was very interesting.

Then, we drive to Chitwan. We enjoyed a jungle safari. We saw deer, birds, and other wild animals. It was a wonderful experience.

After our trip, we came back home with many happy memories. I enjoyed every place we visited. My Nepal trip was one of the best holidays of my life.

IF I HAD A MAGIC PENCIL

If I had a magic pencil, I would draw a beautiful world. I would draw green trees, colourful flowers, and clean rivers. I would draw happy children playing together. I would make food for hungry people and homes for those who need them. I would fill the sky with rainbows and smiles. My magic pencil would spread love, kindness, and happiness everywhere. I believe that even without a magic pencil, we can make the world better by doing good things every day.

A SEED'S DREAM

I am a tiny seed with a big dream. I want to grow into a strong and beautiful tree. I need sunshine, fresh air, water, and love to grow. One day, birds will build nests on my branches. Children will play under my shade and enjoy my fruits. I will make the air fresh and the Earth green. Every big tree was once a tiny seed like me. So, never think you are too small to make a big difference!

बहनो का प्यार

ये जो बहनों का प्यार है,
खुशियों का संसार है।
दुनिया का सबसे अच्छा उपहार है।
लड़ना, झगड़ना, रूठना, मनाना
यही तो इनके रिश्तों का आधार है।
ये जो बहनो का प्यार है,
रिश्तों की अलग पहचान है।
उनके आने से महक उठा,
ये सारा संसार हैं।
हमारे घर का आँगन और परिवार है,
पाँव में बजती घुँघरू की झंकार है।
बगियों में चहकी चिड़ियों की चहकार है,
ये ही तो बहनों का प्यार है।

आओ बच्चों आज बनाएँ
एक प्यारी सी बात सुनाएँ।
दुनिया सुंदर तभी बनेगी।
साफ रखें हम गली - मोहल्ला,
कूड़ा फैलाना नहीं है भला।
पेड़ लगाओ, जल बचाओ,
धरती माँ को मुस्कुराओ।
सबको शिक्षा मिलनी चाहिए,
हर बच्चे को बढ़ना चाहिए।
लड़का - लड़की एक समान,
दोनों हैं देश की पहचान।
सच बोलो, अच्छा काम करो,
मिल - जुलकर हर दुख दूर करो।
जागों बच्चों, आगे बढ़ो,
अच्छे समाज का सपना गढ़ो।

पिता की सलाह सदैव हमारी, तरक्की कराती है।

गलतियाँ:सफलता की पहली सीढ़ी

अक्सर हमें बताया जाता है कि गलतियाँ करना बुरा होता है, लेकिन गलतियाँ हमारे जीवन में सबसे अच्छी शिक्षक होती हैं। बिना गलती किए कोई भी व्यक्ति कुछ नया नहीं सीख सकता । हर गलती हमें बेहतर बनने का मौका देती है। एक छात्र जब परीक्षा में कम अंक लाता है, तो वह अपनी कमजोरियों को समझता है और अगली बार ज्यादा मेहनत करता है। इस तरह जीवन में असफलताएँ हमें मजबूत बनाती हैं। जो लोग गलतियों से डरते हैं,वे आगे बढ़ने का साहस नहीं कर पाते। महान वैज्ञानिकों और आविष्कारकों ने भी कई बार असफलता का सामना किया, लेकिन उन्होंने हार नही मानी। उन्होंने अपनी गलतियों से सीख लेकर सफलता प्राप्त की। इसलिए हमें गलतियों से डरने की बजाय उनसे सीखना चाहिए। क्योंकि हर गलती हमें सफलता के एक कदम और करीब ले जाती है।

"काश! किताबे बोल सकती"
(मेरे विचार)

"काश ! किताबें बोल सकती,"
तो वे हमें अपने अन्दर छुपी दुनिया की कहानियाँ सुनातीं।
वे बताती कि कैसे एक छोटा बच्चा पढ़ - लिखकर बड़ा वैज्ञानिक बना,
कैसे किसी ने हार नहीं मानी और अपनी मेहनत से सफलता पाई।
अगर किताबे बोलतीं, तो वे हमें डाँटती भी - "मोबाइल छोड़ो, मुझे पढ़ो।"
वे हमें सिखाती कि सच बोलना चाहिए और मेहनत से आगे बढ़ना चाहिए।
किताबें हमें अच्छे और बुरे में फर्क करना बताती।
वे, कहती कि समय की कदर करो और बड़ों का सम्मान करो।
किताबें हमें समझदार और अच्छा इंसान बनने की सीख देतीं ।

लिखने की आज नहीं मर्जी है।

ठण्डक से ठिठरे हैं मेरे हाथ।
नहीं दे रहे, कुछ भी साथ।।
आसमान में छाए बादल।
भरा हुआ उनमें शीतल जल।।
दया करों, हो आप महान ।
हमको दो, छुट्टी का दान।।
जल्दी है, घर जाने की।

समय सुहाना आयेगा।।
तब हम आयेंगे स्कूल।

DEAR PARENTS

My parents are my best friends;
they bring real joy and happiness into my life.
My parents mean everything to me.
They are my real heroes.
They play an important role in my life

Every day they give me good advice

SUCCESS

Every step brings its own test and strain,
People stick like gum, yet still remain.
You cannot stop; one day you'll reach the top–
Keep moving forward; never let it drop.
You will not wait; your moment will arrive,
One day you and your success will thrive.
This time you will rock; the doubters will shock,
Those who tried to demotivate will be stopped.
That's all I want to tell: now do your best,
Give all you have and let the rest rest.
Rise up, keep faith, and do what's true–
Success will come because of you.

THE SECRET OF MY PEN

I am a little pen; I write untold tales,
I tuck your dreams inside my trails.
I set your ideas free to roam,

I travel on paper, I build a world each day,
I feel your laughter, keep your hushes safe.
I color imagination bright and then
I stay beside you, your silent friend.

SWEET DREAMS

As stars begin to softly gleam,
Close your eyes and drift in dream.
Moonlight whispers through the trees,
Carrying you on gentle breeze.
Rest your mind; let worries fade,
In the peaceful night be unafraid.
Sweet dreams, my dear, sleep safe and tight,
Wrapped in warmth throughout the night.
May your dreams be bright and light,
A world of joy in still midnight.
Sleep well and let your heart be free,
Until the morning calls to thee.

ONCE WHEN I GOT LOST IN ASSAM

When I was about eleven, my family and I went to Assam. My sister was seven. Assam is a very beautiful state of India, and we enjoyed the trip because there were many amazing places to see.

One day we visited Kaziranga National Park. I was very excited to see the animals and birds. While exploring, I wandered a little too far from my family. Suddenly I realized I could not see my parents and I was lost.

I became very scared and started crying. After a while my father found me near the parking area. When I saw him, I felt so happy and relieved. My mother, uncle, and aunt came too, and they were all glad to see me safe. It was a memorable experience for me.

SEEDS OF SACRIFICE

In the land of sand and ancient stone,
Where seeds of sacrifice were sown,
Maharana Pratap stood proud and free,
A living emblem for all to see.

Rana Sanga bore his eighty scars,
A blade that shone like desert stars.
Padmini's fire, Fanna's heart aflame,
Each name a spark that stoked the same.

They chose the sword, they chose the flame,
To guard untarnished a glorious name.
From every fort to smallest glen,
Walked Rajasthan's bravest women and men.

MY ENGLISH TEACHER

In a room of chalk and morning light,
You turn our questions into flight.
With patient words and steady care,
You teach how thoughts take shape and share.
You show that language is a key
To unlock minds and set them free.
In every poem, line, and page,
You help us find our voice, our stage.
When grammar feels like walls too high,
You lift our courage, help us try.
You listen more than you command,
And guide us gently, hand in hand.

EXAMS

Exams are one of the biggest fears in our school life. No one wants exams to come, but exams are very important for students.

One night I dreamed that there were no exams in school. In my dream, everyone moved to the next class without taking any tests. Because of this, nobody focused on their studies. No one knew anything about subjects like Science, Mathematics, or English.

At first, everyone was very happy because there were no exams. But after some time, when we grew up, we could not achieve our dreams of becoming doctors, scientists, or engineers. We also could not earn money because we were not educated.

Then I realized that if we want to earn money and become successful in life, we must study and get a good education. Exams help us check our knowledge and prepare us for the future.

So, even though we do not like exams, they are good for our future. That is why we should study well and prepare for our upcoming exams.

INSPIRATION STRIKES

Inspiration strikes, and dreams take flight,
Quiet stars align; the heart ignites.
Wires hum with ideas, bright and new,
Minds unfurl like dawn's first view.
Silence leans in, whispering its art,
Souls find rhythm, a beating start.
Creative sparks leap, bold and warm,
From small bright seed to sudden storm.
Innovation wakes where courage grows,
Possibility in every rose.

BRAVERY OF RAJASTHAN

In the land of sand and ancient stone,
Where seeds of sacrifice were sown,
Maharana Pratap stood tall and free,
A symbol of pride for all to see.
Rana Sanga with his eighty scars,
Stone brighter than the desert stars.
While padmini's fire and hanna's heart,
Set this heroic land apart.
They Choose the sword, they chose the flame,
To keep untarnished a glorious name.
From every fort to the smallest glen,
Walked Rajasthan's bravest women and men.

SWEET DREAMS

As the stars begin to softly gleam,
Close your eyes and drift in a dream.
The moonlight whispers through the trees,
Carrying you on a gentle breeze.
Rest your mind, let worries fade,
In the peaceful night, be unafraid.
Sweet dreams, my dear, as you sleep tight,
Wrapped in warmth throughout the quiet night.
May your dreams be bright and light,
A world of joy in the still of night.
Sleep well and let your heart be free
Until the morning calls to thee.

MY DREAM

Everyone has dreams in life. Dreams give us hope and a direction to move forward. My dreams are very important to me because they inspire me to work hard and become a better person.

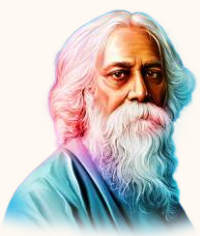

My biggest dream is to become a successful and honest person. I want to study well and gain good knowledge so that I can build a bright future. I also dream of helping my parents and making them proud of me. They work very hard for my education, and I want to repay their love with success.

Another dream of mine is to help poor people in our country who do not have enough food, clothes, or education. When I grow up, I want to support them in any way I can. Helping others gives true happiness.

I know that dreams do not come true easily. They need hard work, patience, and determination. That is why I study regularly and try to improve myself every day. I believe that if I stay focused and positive, I will achieve my dreams one day.

In conclusion, my dreams are the guiding light of my life. They inspire me to work harder and never give up. I am sure that with effort and faith, my dreams will become reality.

शिक्षक: मेरे मार्गदर्शक

जब पहला पग पड़ा विद्यालय में, तब मैं कोरा पन्ना थी।
मुझे भी शिक्षा ग्रहण करके, एक अच्छा इन्सान बनना था।
हाँ, साथ दिया मेरे शिक्षकों ने, और सिखाई नई बात मुझे।
अपनी लिखी कुछ पंक्तियों में, मैं नमन करूँगी आज उन्हें।
आपके उपकारों को अध्यापक जी, हम जन्मों तक न भूलेंगे।
याद आयेगी बहुत आपकी, जब कामयाबी का झूला झूलेंगे।
दृढ़ संकल्प लेना सिखाते हो, हमें संस्कारों का महत्व बताते हो।
भटके हुए हर राही को, सफलता का मार्ग दिखाते हो।
नजर सब पर एक समान हो, ना कभी शिष्यों में भेदभाव करते ।
किसी नादान से गलती हो जाए, तो सीख देकर माफ करते।
हममें छुपे गुणों को तराशकर, हम पर हुनर का रंग चढ़ाते हो।
हर शिक्षक खुद में एक संस्था है, जो देश को आगे बढ़ाते हैं।

मेरी राह

सफलता से थोड़ी दूरी है, क्योंकि तैयारी अभी अधूरी है।
वक्त लगेगा और मुझे, पर लक्ष्य पर नज़र पूरी है
सपने देखे जो, बहुत बड़े, उनकी जिम्मेदारी मेरी है।
आँखों में अब नींद कहाँ, कहाँ हिम्मत मैंने हारी है।
बढ़ूँगा और हासिल करूँगा, पूरी कोशिश जारी है।
होगा एक दिन ऐसा भी, जब कहूँगा, हाँ, आज मेरी बारी है।

मेरे सपनों की दुनिया

मेरे सपनों की दुनिया बहुत सुंदर हैं यहाँ हर दिन नई उम्मीदें जन्म लेती हैं। हर दिन में खुशी की किरण चमकती है। मैं मेहनत करके आगे बढ़ना चाहती हूँ और अपने सपनो को सच बनते देखना चाहती हूँ। मेरे सपनों की दुनिया प्यारी, रंगों से भरी, सबसे न्यारी। जहाँ हो प्यार, न हो कोई डर, हर दूरी को मिटा दे वह घर। मेरी दुनिया में लोग एक - दूसरे की मदद करते हैं। और हर मुश्किल साथ मिलकर आसान हो जाती हैं। यहाँ कोई अकेला नहीं होता, और हर कदम पर हौसला मिलता है। मैं उड़ना चाहूँ दूर गगन में, नए सपनों की उजली किरण में । खुशियों का जग रचती जाऊँ, हर मन में मुस्कान जगाऊँ। मैं जिम्मेदार और मेहनती इंसान बनकर अपने माता - पिता और देश का नाम रोशन करना चाहती हूँ। जरूरतमंदों की मदद करना मेरी दुनिया को और भी सुदंर बनाता है। शांति, प्यार और मिलन ही मेरा सपना, यही मेरी दुनिया का अपना खजाना। हर चेहरे पर आनंद की छाया - यही है मेरी सपनों की दुनिया।

SAVE THE ARAVALLI–PROTECT OUR ANCIENT ECOLOGICAL SHIELD

A recent Supreme Court judgment has accepted a new definition of the Aravalli Hills, counting only those landforms that rise 100 metres or more above the surrounding terrain. This may sound technical, but its impact is massive. Over 90% of the Aravalli range is below this height, which means most of it could lose its existing environmental protections.

Why this matters

The Aravalli is one of India's oldest mountain ranges and a lifeline for Delhi-NCR and the surrounding regions. Even its lower ridges and slopes play a crucial ecological role, including groundwater recharge, soil conservation, and supporting local biodiversity. If protections are removed from the lower parts of the range, the region could face increased environmental degradation and risks to water security and livelihoods.

A FIT BODY BUILDS A SHARP MIND

Sports and fitness are very important for a healthy life. In today's world, children spend a lot of time on mobile phones, television, and computers. Because of this, physical activity has reduced, which affects our health. Sports help us stay active, energetic, and healthy. Playing sports every day makes our body strong and improves our immunity. Activities like cricket, football, badminton, yoga, and running increase stamina, strength, and flexibility. Fitness also helps us feel fresh and reduces stress.

Sports are not only good for physical health but also for mental development. They teach us discipline, teamwork, leadership, and time management. Winning and losing in games make us strong, confident, and better prepared for real life.

Therefore, everyone should include sports and exercise in their daily routine. A healthy body leads to a healthy mind. Sports and fitness help us build a happy, healthy, and successful future.

A WORLD WITHOUT EXAMS

Imagine waking up one morning and hearing the news that schools will have no exams. Every student would jump with joy. School life would feel lighter and happier without the fear of tests and marks.

In a world without exams, students would learn for knowledge, not just for marks. Classes could be more fun with activities, experiments, storytelling, and discussions. Students could show their talents through projects, art, sports, and presentations. Learning would become more creative and enjoyable.

But exams also play an important role. They help students understand their strengths and weaknesses. Exams teach us how to manage time and work hard. Without exams, some students might become careless about their studies.

Instead of removing exams completely, schools could reduce pressure by having short quizzes, group projects, and fun assessments. These way students can learn happily and still improve themselves.

In conclusion, a school without exams sounds wonderful, but some form of testing is necessary. The best school is one where learning is fun and exams do not create fear.

ChatGPT –ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

ChatGPT is an AI-powered chat bot created by Open AI. GPT stands for Generative Pre-trained Transformer. It uses advanced technology called deep learning. It is designed to be useful for many tasks such as having conversations, translating languages, and helping create written content. It learns from a very large collection of text found on the internet, which helps it generate responses.

What is artificial and what is intelligence

Something artificial is man-made and does not occur naturally. Intelligence is the ability to understand information, draw conclusions, and remember what has been learned so it can be used later.

Disadvantages of AI

Job concerns: Many people worry that AI models like ChatGPT will replace human workers and cause job losses.

Reduced creativity: Overreliance on AI can reduce human creativity because people may depend on AI to write or draw for them.

Dependence: If everyone depends on AI for simple tasks, people may lose practice in important skills.

My view of the future

In my opinion, the future will be a digital future where AI plays a big role in everyday life. We should learn to use AI responsibly so it helps us without taking away our skills.

–Kirti, VI RM

BEHAVIOUR

Behaviour is how we act and react to people and situations. It shows our personality and affects how others see us. Good behaviour means being respectful, helpful, and kind; it spreads happiness like sunshine.
In school, good behaviour means listening to teachers, respecting friends, and following rules. It helps us work well with others and be a reliable team member. At home, good behaviour includes helping with chores and being considerate to family members.
In public, we should be polite and thoughtful toward others; this is part of being a good citizen. Bad behaviour, such as shouting or pushing, can hurt people's feelings, so we should try to remain calm and gentle. We learn good behaviour from parents, teachers, and friends—these role models guide us.
Practicing good behaviour every day builds strong habits and makes us better people. Small, consistent actions shape character and create a kinder community.

SCHOOL LIFE

School days are full of fun,
Playing and laughing in the sun.
Books and bags and pencils too,
Learning things that feel brand new.
Friends to chat with, games to play,
Joy and wonder every day.
Teachers guiding, helping right,
Making sure we shine so bright.
Reading stories, writing neat,
Math and science can't be beat.
The bell rings out — it's time to go,
But we'll return to learn and grow.
School is special, full of cheer,
The best place ever, year after year.

THE VIRTUAL WORLD

In the glow of the screen,
we're lost in this stream,
scrolling through lives of virtual dreams.
Snapchat streaks and Instagram fame,
a TikTok dance, playing the game.
Likes and comments become the currency of cool,
our self-worth measured by the digital pool.
Swipe, double-tap, share the vibe, caught in the web, swept up by the tribe.
Snap, tweet, gram the perfect pose, reality blurs as the addiction grows.
Emoji conversations, like OMGs and LOLs, filtering our lives through glossy scrolls.
So here's to teens in the social media mix, balancing reality and the digital fix.
Swipe responsibly, my fellow teen,
in this emoji-filled world let authenticity shine.

WHAT FAILURES DO

We often blame others for our failures. When things go wrong, many people refuse to admit their own faults and weaknesses. Instead of owning up, they shift responsibility to someone else, to circumstances, or to bad luck.

Great leaders show a different pattern: their personality matters more than raw intellect. A person's character and habits shape their actions; words and knowledge are only part of the story. Actions follow from who a person is at their core. True education and training should therefore focus on building the whole person, not merely polishing outward appearances.

Too often we concentrate on surface improvements—manners, presentation, or quick fixes—while neglecting inner growth. The real aim of all training should be to help the individual grow in character, responsibility, and resilience. When the person is strong, right actions naturally follow.

–Ayush Kumar, VII BH

POSITIVE THINKING

In today's fast paced and often unpredictable world, the ability to face challenges without becoming overwhelmed is crucial. Positive thinking is more than a feel-good slogan; it is a scientifically supported mindset that focuses on the brighter side of life, expects favorable outcomes, and meets obstacles with optimism and resilience.

Positive thinking does not mean denying reality or pretending problems do not exist. It means acknowledging difficulties while choosing a constructive, solution-oriented response. By shifting attention from what went wrong to what can be done next, we change how we experience setbacks and recover more quickly. This attitude encourages creative problem solving, reduces stress, and strengthens persistence.

Benefits of positive thinking

- Improves resilience and speeds recovery from setbacks.
- Enhances problem solving by focusing on solutions rather than obstacles.
- Reduces stress and supports better mental and physical health.
- Boosts motivation and helps maintain consistent effort toward goals.

TEACHERS OUR GUIDING LIGHT

A teacher is a guide,
A light in the dark.
They help us to learn,
And leave their mark.
They teach us to read
And how to write.
They fill our minds
And acknowledge our light.
They open our eyes
To the world around,
They help us to grow
And to be sound.
A teacher is a friend,
A monitor, a star.
They help us to believe
In who we are.
So let us be grateful
For all that they do,
For teachers are special
And we appreciate you.

NATURE

I hear the hush of earth and sky, and my chest eases.
Nature is beauty, nature is love,
a quiet kingdom of peace,
not owned by any hand.
It gives without counting, offers without claim—
a home for the wild, the small,
the wandering heart.
It gifts us rivers, shade, and morning light;
we return with care,
or sometimes with careless hands.
Still it holds us all: the fox, the banyan, the breeze—each life a thread in the green, unending weave.
Nature is a mirror and a song;
no image more lovely fills my mind.
I only know its beauty, simple and vast,
and keep its hush like a secret in my ribs.

SOCIAL ISSUES AND AWARENESS

Our society has many problems, like poverty, gender inequality, caste discrimination, corruption, pollution, and health issues. We need to focus on these for a healthy society. Awareness is necessary to address them.

As students, our role is important. School is a good platform where we can raise awareness. In school we learn about pollution, caste discrimination, poverty, and health issues. We learn to pay attention and to encourage the government and our community to take action.

Therefore, everyone should work together to solve social problems. When people are aware and active, we can build a healthier, fairer, and safer society.

–Neeraj Kumar Saini, VI KM

THE VALUE OF TIME

Time is the most precious thing in the world. Once a single second is gone, it can never be brought back. Money lost can be earned again, but lost time is gone forever. Students who understand the value of time always succeed. Making a daily timetable helps us balance our studies, play, and rest. Procrastination (putting off today's work for tomorrow) is the biggest enemy of time. If we waste time watching too much TV or playing mobile games, we suffer during exams. We must use our time wisely and productively. Remember the famous saying: "Time and tide wait for no man."

Vamini, VI Pre-Foundation
i30 Learning Centre

VALUE OF DISCIPLINE

Discipline is the key to success. It helps us stay focused, manage time wisely, and achieve our goals. Whether in studies, work, or daily life, discipline shapes our character and builds good habits. A disciplined person is respected and trusted by others. Without discipline, life becomes chaotic and unorganized.

Stay disciplined; stay successful!

Thank you

TIME FLIES

No matter the tears and cries,
Be aware of the fact that time flies.
Not working hard before the exam,
Weeping after the chance is gone.
Rain won't fall before the skies,
Be aware of the fact that time flies.
Not reaching the station on time,
Missing the train and losing chance.
Opportunities cannot be saved once they die,
Be aware of the fact that time flies.
Leaving every task for tomorrow,
No matter the tears and cries,
Be aware of the fact that time flies.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF

Believe in yourself.
When the road seems long and the path unclear,
When doubts whisper loudly, feeding your fear,
A spark of strength will guide you through the night.
Though the world may say,
"You can't make it," know this light:
You hold the power to become who you are.
The storm will come and the winds will blow,
But stand tall—within you, you already know.
It's not about the falls but how you rise,
How you meet each challenge with determined eyes.
For every step forward, however small,
Is progress—you're moving, you're answering the call.
So trust in yourself; believe and see
How far your courage and will can be.

THE POWER OF HARD WORK & CONSISTENCY

In the journey of life, motivation sparks the flame,
It lights our passion and calls out our name.
But true achievement stands on steady ground:
Hard work and consistency make dreams profound.
Motivation starts us; effort shapes the skill,
Day after day, with patience and will.
Through hard work's fire, our dreams ignite,
Consistency turns the dark to light.
Step by step along the path we tread,
Perfection blooms where effort is spread.
To taste success we must not only read,
But live our learning in thought and deed.

–Yuvraj Singh, VII PF

DAUGHTERS–BLESSING, NOT A BURDEN

Children are a great gift from God to loving parents. We should be grateful for the blessing of children, whether they are boys or girls. It is disheartening that some parents rejoice when a newborn is male and show disappointment when the child is female.

We hide behind the guise of "sex-selective abortion," using fancy medical terms to cover how we end lives that have not even begun, simply because of something neither the mother nor the child can control. When a mother is found to be carrying a female fetus, these abortions are sometimes performed in the worst possible conditions. Female fetuses are discarded and left to die. It seems selfish needs have begun to trump the value of human life.

We must understand why so many women feel they cannot afford to give birth to a girl, because of the pressure that comes with having a daughter. Daughters are considered a burden from the moment they are born until they are married. We need to work toward abolishing the dowry system, which places unnecessary pressure on girls and their families and reduces young girls to commodities.

Daughters are not burdens; they are blessings. We must change attitudes, strengthen laws, and support families so every child—regardless of gender—can be welcomed, protected, and cherished.

A RIVER THAT REMEMBERS EVERYTHING

I move through centuries, calm and deep,
Harboring secrets my waters keep.
I have watched wide skies and village lanes,
Felt simple peace and gentle rains.
Little feet once traced my shore,
Songs and prayers rose, then soared.
I fed the fields, I cooled the land,
Cradled life within my hand.
Then smoke stole the forest's green,
Leaving scars where hope had been.
Wounded, weary, I still flow on,
Bearing truths that ache at dawn.
Remember me; guard my stream,
For in my current flows your dream.

HUMANITY

In every heart a spark does shine,
A light of love, pure and divine.
No matter colour, creed, or land,
We are all connected, hand in hand.
A helping hand, a gentle smile
Can change a life and go the extra mile.
Compassion grows when we give and care,
And lifts the world from pain and despair.
Let kindness guide each step we take;
Let truth and hope be what we make,
For in this life one thing is key:
To love and serve humanity.

–Sakshi, VIII RM

LIFE

Life is not about spending years;
It is about living every moment.
The course of life is not a plain;
It has deep valleys and high mountains.
Life doesn't mean merely to see;
It means to experience everything.
For most it is full of gloom,
But to some eyes it is full of blooms.
Life is just what you feel;
It's just what you make.
But every moment
It teaches us something:
To laugh like roses
Even when encircled by thorns,
To shine like the sun
No matter if you are burning alone.
After a fall, rise again;
To reach the goal, try again.
Work peacefully without rush—
This is what life teaches us.

KNOWLEDGE

Knowledge is like the ocean; it is limitless and has no boundaries.

If there is one Indian whose life illustrates this fully, it is Srinivasa Ramanujan, the mathematical genius. He lived only thirty-two years, yet within that short span he produced many gems of rare delight, like pearls from the deep sea. His life was inscrutable and, in some ways, as mysterious as the ocean's depths. The work he produced in mathematics remains unforgettable even today, several decades after it first became known.

One of Ramanujan's favourite pastimes was the construction of magic squares and playing with numbers. He was born on 22 December 1887 at Erode in Tamil Nadu and grew up in Kumbakonam, where his father worked as a clerk in a textile shop. Ramanujan's discoveries and methods were recorded in what are known as his Notebooks, which he filled with results written on one-sided paper gathered from waste.

Ramanujan's ability to skip many intermediate steps was proverbial, even when he was a student at Pachaiyappa's College, Madras. His intuitive grasp of numbers and formulas produced results that continue to inspire mathematicians around the world.

on a limb too slight, falls — it gives way

ATOMIC HABITS

"Great success is never built in a single day — it is created by the small habits we choose to follow every day. Habits play an important role in our lives; they can lead to ruin or to renewal.

1. Practice Calmness

Calmness is a powerful human strength. A person becomes unbeatable by learning to control the mind. Science shows that showing calmness in critical situations improves decision-making and reduces stress. Try meditation and remain calm in every situation.

2. Build Confidence

Psychology says confidence grows through actions, not by only thinking. Every day do something that challenges your doubts. Don't compare yourself with others; focus on your own actions. Believe in yourself even when others doubt you.

3. Drink Enough Water

According to the World Health Organization, a properly hydrated body is more focused. Hydration can also improve your appearance and energy. Drink at least three liters of water daily.

4. Improve 1% a Day

You cannot achieve success overnight; it comes from daily practice. Small improvements open the door to success. Decide firmly to learn from your mistakes and avoid repeating them.

5. Clear Your Surroundings

Your surroundings strongly affect your success. A famous saying goes, "If you have five doctor friends, you will become the sixth doctor." Choose and keep good company.

6. Work Daily Toward Your Goal

Working toward goals is more important than thinking about them all night. Do at least one hour of deep, focused work every day.

7. Read the Bhagavad Gita

The Bhagavad Gita teaches many life lessons. Read it for ten minutes a day.

FRIENDSHIP IN A DIGITAL AGE

In the fast-paced world of 2026, where digital screens often dominate our attention, the value of a true friend remains irreplaceable. Friendship is more than shared laughter or a common interest in gaming; it is the emotional anchor that helps us navigate the complexities of student life. Research shows that school friendships are essential for our well-being and academic success. Having a trusted circle of friends acts as a mental-health buffer, reducing stress and providing a sense of belonging.

Whether it is collaborating on a tough project or having someone to talk to during a stressful exam week, these bonds foster resilience. Building healthy relationships requires effort. It starts with being approachable, practicing empathy, and respecting boundaries. In an era of instant messaging, taking time for real face-to-face connections is vital. As we move through this year, let us remember that the quality of our friendships matters more than the quantity of our online followers. Real-world interactions let us read nonverbal cues — a smile, a sigh, or a look of concern – that emoji simply cannot replicate. Let's be friends who support, inspire, and grow together.

–Tejas Yadav, VIII RM

GOOD MANNERS MAKE THE MAN

Good manners are necessary in everyone's life. According to some people, a well-mannered person rises when an elderly gentleman enters the room, smiles when he meets a friend, and pats children kindly on the back. He thanks you when you hand him a piece of blotting paper, says he is glad to meet you, and expresses regret when you leave. A person who asks about your health and inquires kindly about the welfare of your family is thought to possess good manners.

A person with good manners is not violent, noisy, showy, or irritating. He is never rude and does not offend others. He is always correct in his behaviour and graceful in his address. Manners are not merely little tricks of behaviour used to show off; manners go deeper. Manners mean character based on moral principles. Only a person who is not cold, selfish, proud, or cowardly can truly possess good manners. It is believed that a person can have good manners even without wealth, social position, fine clothes, or formal degrees. A well-mannered person is full of regard for the feelings of others, respectful to the elderly, kind and courteous to equals, and considerate to those who are younger or less experienced.

DAUGHTERS -BLESSING NOT A BURDEN

We hide behind the guise of sex selection, using fancy medical terms to cover up how we take away lives that have not even begun simply because of something neither the mother nor the child can control. When a mother is found to be bearing a female child, some families end that life before it starts.

We must ask why we consider a daughter a burden from the moment she is born until she is married. Society must work to abolish the dowry system that places unnecessary pressure on girls and their families. The attention we focus on daughters should also teach sons respect and responsibility.

Daughters are not a burden. They are beautiful creations of God, full of strength, resilience, tolerance, and empathy. Girls bring love, courage, and hope to families and communities. Love the girl child, because girls are the future of our country.

GOOD OR NOT

Failing in life is normal; it is like a challenge that you accept to find out what mistakes you made and then improve. Failure is an opportunity. If things are always going well, how can you understand your mistakes? Failing helps you recognize errors and correct them. It also helps you become better. Failing is part of the process of success.

Sometimes you fail the first time, the second time, or the third time, but eventually you will definitely succeed because you learn from your mistakes.

ABOUT TOPPERS

A topper is a student who achieves the highest marks or rank in an exam or class. Being a topper does not only mean scoring well in tests; it also means understanding the subjects deeply and applying knowledge. Toppers often have strong time management, discipline, focus, and comprehension skills. They learn concepts rather than relying on rote memorization. A true topper gains knowledge and uses it creatively instead of just memorizing facts. Not everyone becomes a topper, but everyone can become a person who values learning over cheating or rote learning. We should aim to be successful learners, not just high scorers.

TURNING PASSION INTO A PROFESSION

Passion is a strong feeling of enthusiasm that motivates a person to work with dedication. Every individual has a passion, such as music, sports, writing, art, or science. When passion is turned into a profession, work becomes enjoyable and meaningful rather than stressful. In today's competitive world, there are many career options that allow people to follow their interests.

A person passionate about writing may become a journalist, while someone interested in science can choose research or engineering. Passion increases creativity and confidence, which are important for success. With proper planning and determination, passion can successfully become a rewarding profession.

THE BRAVE BATTLE

Every entrance felt like a small war: nerves tightening, breath held, courage summoned. The onion met that battle with a quiet, stubborn heart.

The Emotional Onion

He was a natural on stage, a performer whose every line cut straight to the heart. Yet he found it hard to share the spotlight. When he delivered a dramatic monologue, the audience didn't just listen — they wept, moved by a truth only he could reveal. Still, he kept searching for a partner who could match his depth.

The Coolest Character

Meanwhile, the cucumber was the picture of calm. While the market sweltered and others wilted, it lounged in the shade, unbothered and composed. It wasn't trying to be cool–it simply was, born with a steady chill that made everyone else wish they could relax as easily.

WHAT IS LIFE

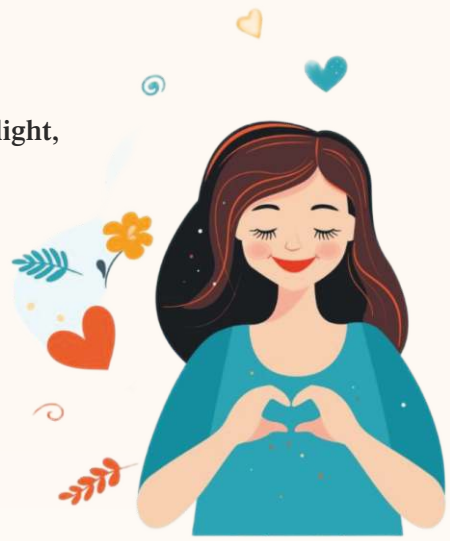

Life is a beautiful gift from God.
Many problems will come into your life,
But you must face them with a smile.
Life is a circle of good and bad, happiness and sadness.
If you are having a bad moment,
Don't worry—happiness is on the way.
Life is the journey between two letters:
B and D.
B stands for birth and D stands for death.
Life is so precious that one day,
one hour, one minute
Will never come again.
So forget small problems
And be happy.

THE UNIVERSE

The universe, a healing part,
In every world it keeps its place;
Where pain lies hushed and dreams take flight,
And gentle light restores the night.
It mends the broken, soothes the heart,
Revives the carefree, wandering soul;
At last it seals what time reveals,
And lifts the weight that memory steals.
Universe, the healer true,
Dealer of fragments torn apart;
For me a dart that points the way,
Revealing how the world will sway.
It turns our tears to stars at night,
And teaches wounded hearts to trust;
It gathers pain from near and far,
And heals our wounds with quiet stars.
What first would break you will not stay;
The universe remembers you.

KINDNESS

I can choose to be kind
Each and every day,
I can choose to be kind
In every way.

When I am kind to others,

So plant a seed of kindness
And watch the world bloom,
A single gentle act can
Chase away the gloom…..

WHEN WINGS REMEMBER THE WIND

Hopeful hearts are full of life, but sometimes they feel lifeless too.
People who shine brightly on most days sometimes get lost in the darkness, and birds who love the sky sometimes fall to the ground.

But you must know—hopeful hearts keep holding on to hope, people discover the sun within themselves,
and brave birds dare to fly again,
because even broken wings remember the wind,
and every dusk carries the promise of dawn.

THE COURAGE TO TRY

With hearts aflame and souls on fire,
We chase our dreams, our heart's desire.
No fear at all, no dread of pain,
We rise again, and try once more with hope sustained.

For every try, a story's told,
Of triumph won and spirits bold.
The courage to try, the will to start,
Is the spark that lights the restless heart.

So let's take the leap, let go the fear,
And trust that our way will soon appear.
For in the trying, we find our strength,
And rise above to our fullest length.

With every step, a new path's made,
With every try, our future's laid.
So let us brave, so let us bold,
And let our dreams and hearts unfold.

Message – The courage to try is not the absence of fear but the willingness to act despite it. So take the leap and don't hesitate.

WHY OUR FRIENDSHIPS MADE SCHOOL LIFE UNFORGETTABLE

School life isn't just about books and exams; it's the friendships that make it unforgettable. Friends turn dull lectures into shared jokes, celebrate our small victories, and stand by us through hard times. They make us look forward to school, turning simple moments into something special. Whether we're swapping secrets, helping each other study, or simply being present, those bonds shape who we become. Years from now we won't remember every grade or lesson; we will remember the laughter, the mischief, and the friends who made those years unforgettable.

–Navya Goyal, IX KM

ENTHUSIASM

Enthusiasm is often called the secret of success. If you are considering two people side by side for a position and both have similar intelligence, abilities, and skills, you will almost always choose the more enthusiastic of the two. In fact, you might prefer a more enthusiastic person over someone who is slightly more qualified but less energetic.

Enthusiasm is no substitute for intelligence, aptitude, or other qualities associated with success. But when added to your existing skills and qualifications, it can provide the extra push required to succeed in almost any endeavour.

If you are passionate about something, it is generally easier to be enthusiastic. So focus on your passions, have fun, and your enthusiasm will naturally appear.

To tap into your own energy and enthusiasm for a vision, you have to determine what excites you most about it. What parts of it hold meaning for you? What gives you a buzz? You need to feel so excited that you want to talk about it. Get excited, and then get others excited so you can breathe life into the vision.

You are as young as your confidence, as cold as your doubt, as young as your hope, and as old as your fear or despair. Years may wrinkle the skin, but giving up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. So keep the enthusiasm in you alive.

BORN OF FIRE, ROOTED IN STONE

Don't worry, mother, dry your eyes
You have not raised a child who breaks or hides.
You raised a flame that learned to stay
A quiet fire that lights its own way
She wears her scars like woven art
Each one a stich around her heart.
She bends beneath the weight of pain
Yet stands again, and stands again.
And father, you were steady ground
The calmest strength she ever found.
You taught her how to hold her place,
To meet the world with measured grace.
From mother, fire that dares to stay
From father, stone that will not sway.
So, when the dark calls out her name
She answers back in heavy breath and flame.
For even when the skies fall through
She is the storm they can't undo.
When the dark begins to rise
She'll walk through storms with steady eyes.
Not made for ash, not born top fall
She is the flame that outlives all!

–Aaraddhya Singh, X RM

THE MOST IMPORTANT THING

Friends are threads in life's fabric,
Weaving joy, laughter, and strife;
They make the journey warm and bright,
Creating memories that last a lifetime, a gift.

So cherish friends who light your way,
Treasure moments, night and day;
Life's a journey best shared with friends—
Together forever, till the very end.

TRANSFORMING EDUCATION IN INDIA: POLICIES FOR A BRIGHTER FUTURE

Education shapes a nation's future, and recent policy changes in India aim to make learning more meaningful, practical, and student-centered. A major shift away from rote memorization toward understanding-based learning encourages students to think critically, ask questions, and develop original ideas. Emphasis on skill-based education builds confidence and equips learners with abilities they can apply in real-life situations.

Students now have greater freedom to choose subjects that match their interests and strengths, including arts, sports, and vocational courses, which broadens career pathways and personal growth. Digital tools—online classes, smart classrooms, and educational apps—have increased access and flexibility, helping many students learn at their own pace. These innovations make education more relevant to the demands of the 21st century.

Despite these gains, challenges remain. Many schools, especially in rural areas, lack reliable internet, modern learning resources, and adequately trained teachers, which limits students' ability to benefit from new approaches. Frequent changes in syllabi and examination patterns can confuse students, parents, and teachers, and insufficient teacher training slows the adoption of innovative teaching methods.

To realize the full promise of these reforms, the government and communities must invest in infrastructure, teacher development, and equitable resource distribution. Clear communication about curriculum changes and phased implementation will reduce confusion and improve outcomes. With careful planning and sustained support, India's evolving education policies can create an inclusive system that prepares every student for future success.

IMPORTANCE OF TREES

Trees are indispensable to planetary health and human well-being: forests cover about 4.06 billion hectares, roughly 31% of the world's land area, and thus form the backbone of terrestrial ecosystems. They produce a substantial share of the oxygen that sustains animal life-estimates commonly attribute around 28–30% of global oxygen production to terrestrial plants, including trees-while simultaneously absorbing and storing vast amounts of carbon, making forests a critical natural carbon sink. Recent analyses indicate that, on balance, the world's forests have sequestered billions of tonnes of CO annually, underscoring their role in climate mitigation. Trees also underpin biodiversity and ecosystem services: they provide habitat and food for innumerable species, stabilize soils to prevent erosion, and regulate hydrological cycles through transpiration and canopy interception. Yet forests remain under pressure—tropical primary forest loss reached millions of hectares in recent years, releasing carbon and degrading ecosystem function—so conservation and sustainable management are urgent. In urban settings, strategically placed trees reduce local temperatures; improve thermal comfort, and lower energy demand through shading and evapotranspiration, making them a cost-effective nature-based adaptation to heat. Beyond these ecological services, trees supply food, medicine, timber, and livelihoods, and they enhance mental and physical health by providing restorative green space. Protecting existing forests and expanding tree cover through informed planting, stewardship, and policy action is therefore essential to secure ecosystem services, strengthen climate resilience, and ensure a healthier planet for future generations.

NATURE

Nature is a living poem, written in wind and water, leaf and light. It unfurls in emerald forests and silver rivers, in the slow, patient rise of mountains and the quicksilver dart of birds. Dawn arrives on a chorus of wings; dusk descends on the rustle of leaves—small, ordinary sounds that stitch the world back together. Flowers open like painted hands, scattering colour across the earth, and the air itself tastes of rain and possibility. To breathe in such places is to remember a quieter rhythm, to feel the pulse of the world slow and steady beneath your feet.

The wild is not merely backdrop but teacher: it shows us how systems hold together, how give and take maintain balance, how loss and renewal are braided into the same story. Stepping into a wood or sitting by a laughing brook is to enter a sanctuary where grief softens and hope is made visible in the shimmer of water and the tilt of light. Though nature offers its gifts freely, it asks for care in return; our hands must learn to protect what our hearts depend upon.

Nature keeps the Earth's secrets and offers them back as solace—an endless, patient beauty that mends what is broken and reminds us how small and how precious we are beneath the wide, listening sky.

IF YOU TEACH

If you teach, you stand beside me—a lantern in the dark, steady and near.
If you ask, you reach across the silence—
and I answer because your question holds me.
If you speak, your words become my compass;
confidence blooms in the shape of your voice.
If you are the single thread of my life,
then I will be the thread that learns from you—your student, carrying your lessons into my days.
Threads of Two
Male and female, two names for one design.
The Creator weaves man into woman,
woman into man,
a single pattern mirrored in two hands.
No matter the name you wear—man or woman—
each heart holds both courage and tenderness.
If you are a man,
let womanhood live in you as grace;
if you are a woman,
let manhood live in you as strength.
Together they make the whole:
not halves but echoes, not copies but kin,
each soul carrying the other's light.

NATURE'S BEAUTY

The morning sun begins to rise,
And paints its gold across the skies.
The trees stand tall, the rivers sing,
Full of gentle joy in everything.
The flowers bloom in shades so bright,
Their petals dancing in the light.
The breeze moves softly, cool and sweet,
Through fields where grass and wildflowers meet.
The birds all chirp from branch to tree,
Their songs are full of harmony.
The mountains watch in silent grace,
While clouds drift slowly into place.

THE SECRET BEHIND EVERY SMILE

A smile is one of the simplest expressions, yet it holds great power. It can brighten a gloomy day, comfort a worried heart, and create friendships without saying a single word. But what is the secret behind every smile?

It is not expensive gifts or perfect lives. The real secret lies in love, kindness, gratitude, and hope.

Every smile has a story. Sometimes it reflects success and celebration, while at other times it hides courage in the face of difficulties. Many people smile not because life is easy, but because they choose to remain positive despite their challenges. Such smiles remind us that true strength comes from within.

Kindness is another secret behind a genuine smile. A helping hand, a kind word, or a thoughtful gesture can make someone feel valued and cared for. These small acts of kindness create moments of happiness that stay in our hearts for a long time.

Gratitude also brings smiles. When we appreciate the blessings we already have—our family, friends, health, and opportunities—we begin to see life in a brighter light. Instead of focusing on what is missing, we learn to enjoy what is already present.

A smile is not just an expression. It is a gift that everyone can share. It costs nothing but has the power to spread joy wherever it goes. Let us remember that behind every genuine smile is a heart filled with hope, kindness, and gratitude. By sharing our smiles with others, we can make the world a little warmer and happier every day.

"The most beautiful smiles are not found on perfect faces, but in hearts that never stop believing."

DAUGHTERS ARE A BLESSING, NOT A BURDEN

Daughters are a precious gift to every family. They fill our homes with love, happiness, and care. In today's world, girls are achieving success in every field, such as education, science, medicine, sports, civil services, business, and art. They have proved that they are as capable as boys.

Every daughter deserves equal rights, quality education, and the freedom to follow her dreams. When we educate and support girls, we help build a stronger and more developed nation.

We should never think of daughters as a burden. Instead, we should respect, encourage, and empower them. A society that values its daughters becomes more progressive, peaceful, and strong. Let us change our thinking and celebrate every daughter's achievements.

Remember, a daughter is not a burden. She is the pride of her family and the hope of our future.

HISTORY OF MATHEMATICS

Mathematics is one of the oldest subjects developed by humans. It began with simple counting and measuring in ancient civilizations such as Egypt and Mesopotamia. The Greeks, especially Euclid and Pythagoras, introduced logical reasoning and geometry. India made remarkable contributions through scholars like Aryabhata and Brahmagupta, who developed the concepts of zero, the decimal place-value system, and algebra. Later, Islamic mathematicians preserved and expanded this knowledge, which eventually reached Europe. During the Renaissance, mathematics advanced rapidly with the development of algebra, coordinate geometry, and calculus. Today, mathematics is the foundation of science, engineering, technology, economics, and many aspects of everyday life.

UNIVERSE

The Universe is a cosmic mystery where time, space, and reality defy all human logic.

Right now, you are trapped inside an arena that is actively tearing itself apart. A mysterious force called Dark Energy is stretching space faster than the speed of light. This means the vast majority of our night sky is already redshifting away, vanishing into eternal invisibility.

Equally mind-bending is the phenomenon of cosmic time travel. Because light takes time to travel across the cosmos, peering through a telescope is literally looking backward in time. We can witness the birth of the very first stars that died billions of years ago.

Meanwhile, inside black holes, the laws of physics completely break down, stopping time entirely and crushing giant stars into a point of zero size.

Even stranger, the subatomic particles making up your body can exist in two places at once. They constantly communicate across billions of light-years through quantum entanglement.

We are the Universe experiencing itself.

राजा गुलाब

एक गाँव में एक किसान ने गुलाब के फूलों की खेती की जिसमें उसने बहुत सारे गुलाब लगाए थे और इन सारे गुलाबों में एक गुलाब था, जिससे वह किसान बहुत प्यार करता था और उसने उसका नाम राजा गुलाब रखा था। राजा गुलाब अन्य फूलो से ज्यादा बड़ा और खुबसूरत था उसे अपनी खुबसूरती पर बहुत घमंड था। वहीं राजा गुलाब के पास जमीन पर एक पत्थर था जो आकार में उबड़ खाबड़ दिखता था। जिसे देखकर राजा गुलाब हमेशा उसकी बदसूरती का मजाक उड़ाता था ।और हमेशा उसको कहता था कि तुम बहुत बदसूरत हो और मैं कितना सुदंर हूँ। मुझे लोग प्यार करते हैं तुम्हे तो कोई देखना भी नहीं चाहता। तुम्हारी जगह मेरे चरणों में ही हैं। जिस पर वह पत्थर कहता है कि और समय का फेर बदलने में समय भी नहीं लगता मेरा भी समय कभी न कभी जरूर बदलेगा। यह बात सुनकर राजा गुलाब हँसता था। एक बार गावँ मे एक शिल्पकार आया और सब गाँव वालों ने उसे मंदिर के लिए एक खूबसूरत मूर्ति बनाने को कहा। शिल्पकार ने मूर्ति के लिए पत्थर तलाशना शुरू किया।

शिल्पकार की नजर उस पत्थर पर पड़ी जो राजा गुलाब के पास जमीन पर पड़ा था । शिल्पकार वह पत्थर उठाकर ले गया और उसे तराशकर एक गणेश जी की प्रतिमा बनायी जिसे उसने मंदिर में स्थापित किया। धीरे – धीरे लोग उस मंदिर में आते रहें और लोगों की मनोकामना पूरी होने लगी जिससे मंदिर की ख्याति और बढ़ने लगी। किसान को जब यह बात पता चली तो किसान ने सोचा कि मैं मंदिर में दर्शन करने जरूर जाऊँगा।

मंदिर जाने से पहले सोचा क्या न भगवान के लिए फूल तोड़ लिया जाए तब उसने विचार किया कि मेरे खेत में एक सबसे सुंदर फूल है जो राजा गुलाब है। क्यों न उसे तोड़कर भगवान के चरणों में अर्पित किया जाए। किसान ने राजा गुलाब को तोड़कर सीधा जाकर मंदिर में गणेश जी की प्रतिमा के नीचे अर्पित करदिया। कुछ देर बाद गणेश जी की प्रतिमा से आवाज आई आपने मुझे पहचाना। तब राजा गुलाब बोला कि नही मैं आपको नहीं पहचान पाया तो उसने बताया कि मैं वही बदसूरत पत्थर हूँ जो आपके चरणों में पड़ा रहता था। आज समय बदल गया और आप मेरे चरणों में है। आज सब लोग मुझे पूजते है। इस पर राजा गुलाब को अपनी गलती का एहसास हुआ और उसने अपनी गलती के लिए क्षमा भी माँगी।

माँ

माँ तो आखिर होती है 'माँ'
अपने सपनों को त्यागकर, रातों को जागकर,
हमारी ख्वाहिशें करती है पूरी।
उनके बिना जिंदगी है अधूरी।।
ममतामयी आँचल है जिसका,
जैसे गौरी और जानकी,
खुशियों की तो यह है मोती।
माँ की आँखो में करूणा की ज्योति,
रिश्तो को यह संजोए रखती।
सारे दर्द खुद ही सह लेती,
अपनों पर जब संकट आता ह।
मौत से भी ये लड़ जाती है
कभी दुर्गा, तो कभी काली बन जाती है।
जब बात अपने बच्चों पर आती है,
रब की परछाई होती है माँ।
माँ तो आखिर होती है 'माँ'।

सबकी बुराइयाँ सबकी चुगली करने का दिल करता है।
एक दोस्त ही है, जिससे व्यस्त होने पर भी मिलने को दिल करता है।
अपनी सारी दु:ख तकलीफे छोड़,जिसके साथ हँसने को दिल करता है।
वह तो एक दोस्त ही हो सकता है।

UNTAUGHT

I memorized formulas, dates, and definitions, but the most profound lessons never lived in books; they unfolded as I moved through the world. For me, travelling is not about miles covered but about depths discovered. It begins when familiarity fades and curiosity takes over. When the mind stops revising and starts receiving, the world becomes a classroom without walls.

India is where my love for travelling found its voice. By the Ganga in Varanasi, I stood on the ghats as morning mist kissed the river. The scent of incense mingled with smoke from diyas. Priests chanted, boats floated like slow-moving poems, and strangers' faces held stories older than memory. In Jaisalmer, the desert sands blushed under the sun, teaching me that courage can endure beyond empires. Kerala's backwaters whispered patience in the rhythm of floating houseboats, while Ladakh's silent mountains demanded humility in their icy presence.

Everywhere, India is free—free to wander, to taste street food that bursts with spice and laughter, to join village chatter, and to witness festivals where ritual and joy collide. From Holi's riot of colors to Diwali's river of lamps, from quiet temple prayers to the drumbeats of Rajasthan, life here is a symphony of contrasts where my heart belongs.

Travel dismantles arrogance: it teaches respect when cultures differ, gratitude for simple joys, and empathy when lives unfold differently from mine.

Somewhere between unfamiliar roads and unfamiliar reflections, travelling introduces me to myself. I discover patience where I thought none existed and courage where comfort once ruled. I return changed—not louder, but deeper—carrying the rhythm of the places I've walked, the voices I've heard, the smells and tastes etched in memory.

SOME DAYS

Some days are harder to explain to those who never try to understand what you say or feel. On such days I write—pouring my feelings onto white paper with a pen, as if the page were the heart itself and the words the voice of my soul.

I cannot reach the sky or catch it with my hands, where everything seems possible, where you can hold the wind, fly, and sit on the tips of trees, where hate is replaced by unconditional love and words that do not yet exist on this earth. My world is full of laughter, smiles, and happiness, a world where nobody has the right to become a sad person.

In my world you may only be happy. My happiness depends on those I love; when they are joyful and their eyes fill with tears while they are with me, when they laugh at my jokes, those moments make their day—and for that one instant I can be even happier than they are. A world where nobody has the right to hate anyone does not yet exist on this earth, but I keep it alive in my heart.

THE ADVANCED RAT RACE

You sit among hundreds of students when the anchor snaps, “And the first prize goes to…” — it's you. You wanted it, you worked for it, and when your name is called you feel something: confidence, relief, joy, fear. Celebration proves the outcome was never guaranteed; victory is an achievement, not a requirement. In this rat race you are replaceable, so winning feels like more than maintenance — it feels like proof.

Success, however, can be hollow. Applause does not define you; prizes become stories you must keep retelling. The higher you climb, the harder it is to breathe. Excellence isolates you; compliments start to sound like requests. The system claims fairness, but behind the curtain things are rigged. You must ask whether you are truly competing or merely performing — often you are doing both.

Wanting something too much becomes a trap. The hunger to be special breeds fear: fear of being ignored, fear of failing to meet expectations. Praise can become a burden because talent demands constant proof. Comparison steals joy; excellence stops being play and becomes obligation.

When the clapping ends, silence remains. Wakefulness brings brutal truths: either accept the delusion or endure the pain of seeing how the world really works. For feelers the world is tragedy; for thinkers it is comedy. Modern positivity often masks self-made anguish — social anxiety, betrayed expectations, the cost of passion — and meaning is shaped more by perspective than by events.

And the bitterest truth is this: even if you win among millions or a duo decillion, the race is still a rat race — and so are you.

TELL ME SOMETHING

Have you ever felt like life dealt you the wrong hand? Like someone shuffled the deck and handed you a version of the world that never quite fits.

That's my every day. The world here is too loud: people speak over one another, laughter is too sharp, and judgment comes too quickly. Teachers measure you in numbers that never notice the effort behind the work. Parents hold up faces you are supposed to become, as if you could step into someone else's shape. Friendships thin the moment you stumble.

And yet, there is another place — unnamed, almost imagined, but more honest than the one I live in. In that place, a teacher smiles at the attempt, even when the answer is wrong. A parent asks, “Are you okay?” before asking for results. Friends stay; they pull you close instead of stepping away. The air there is gentler, and even the rain seems to fall with understanding.

Sometimes I close my eyes and go there for a little while. It does not escape as much as a reminder that a softer world is possible.

BEYOND REPORT CARDS

One day, years from now, we will forget our roll numbers. We won't remember how much we scored in that surprise test or what grade we got in the subject that stressed us so much.
But we will remember the day we bunked a class.
Not because we thought we were cool.
Not because we didn't value education.
But because, for a few stolen moments, we felt free.

We will remember sitting somewhere quiet, laughing without worrying, sharing snacks, and daring to say things out loud in classrooms.
We will remember how our hearts raced every time a teacher passed by, and how we promised each other we'd never do it again, even though we probably would. At that moment, marks didn't matter. Attendance didn't matter. What mattered was being young, being together, and being alive.

School teaches us formulas, dates, and definitions. But school life teaches us something else too: how friendship creates those beautiful, endless memories; how the smallest moments become the biggest stories later.
Years from now, no one will ask us about that one class we missed or question that one mark we lost. But when we meet old friends, we will smile and say, "Do you remember that day?" And suddenly we will be teenagers again.

WHEN PASSION FINDS A VOICE

She is a girl who loves singing. Her voice reflects her passion and dedication. Singing gives her happiness and strength, and it is the dream she holds close to her heart. Though her journey is not easy and she faces many obstacles along the way, she does not give up. She believes that hard work and faith can turn even the biggest dreams into reality.

Every note she sings carries her hope, courage, and determination. Obstacles may mark her path, but they never break her spirit. Music becomes her strength and her truest way of expressing herself. She knows that one day her voice will shine and inspire others to follow their dreams.

Each challenge becomes a reason for her to practice harder and believe more in herself. With patience, confidence, and constant effort, she continues to pursue her dream, trusting that one day her voice will be heard and she will become the singer she aspires to be.

SOLITUDE

In a world where everyone chases limelight, attention, and social fame, there is another kind of person who finds comfort where others flee. They seek solace in the quiet beauty of night and darkness; to them, this is solitude. These people see life differently because they know the gentle power of being alone.

Solitude is a state in which a person welcomes silence and discovers inner peace. This phase of life offers a unique experience: it helps you confront the unsolved questions of your life and guides you toward new directions. Solitude can reshape character and move a troubled life toward growth and success.

ENOUGH

Enough—
A word so comforting, and yet sometimes it hurts more than anything.

You know that feeling when you spend time with your family?
Your family is not rich,
but it is enough.

Remember the piggyback rides from your dad?
It wasn't an expensive car or a luxury,
but it was enough.

What about the dishes your mom cooked—
the simple kadhi-chawal?
It wasn't fancy food,
but it was enough.

And those exam days
when your friend became your teacher?
They weren't professionals,
but they were enough.

And those pictures of the sky you took—filled with clouds and beautiful colours.
You weren't a trained photographer,
but it was enough.

What about the monitor badges?
They used to hold so much meaning.
They weren't possessions,
but they were enough.

Do you know why the word hurts so badly?
Because deep down you know that at the end of the day

You will never actually, really be enough.

MY WORDS HESITATED - MY WORDS DIDN'T

There were days when my heart lingered at the edge of a sentence and would not move. It paused, trembled, and turned to the past, whispering, Not yet.

Still, my words did not wait. They stepped forward, carrying the weight my heart could not bear. I learned to be quiet, to smile while something inside me cracked, to listen when all I wanted was to speak. My hesitation was not emptiness but fullness — a crowded chest of unspoken feelings, unfinished conversations, friendships that shifted, and memories that tap gently when the world grows quiet.

Some people once felt like home. Some moments felt like they would last forever. We promised, we will always stay together, while time quietly kept moving. Those promises were not shattered so much as they were misplaced in the slow drift of days.

I watched friendships thin not because love vanished but because the right words arrived too late. My heart feared that speech would spoil the fragile peace of silence. In the end, silence did more harm than any hurried confession might have.

And sometimes I wonder if I belong somewhere else.

HUMANITIES: A WAY OF UNDERSTANDING

In history, we trace the human tale — from early worlds where survival prevailed. Empires rose, beliefs took shape, and societies changed through conflict and reform.
We study not just dates, but lives: workers and rulers, inequality and resilience. The past leaves traces that help explain the present.

Political science teaches power and law: why constitutions matter, how rights and duties stand side by side, and how democracy lives when voices collide.

Sociology asks us to pause and observe the social web: family, culture, class, and role — the invisible forces that guide the whole.

Literature gives thought a voice. Through prose and poetry we learn to question, reflect, and be inspired; simple words become thoughtful fire.

The humanities train the mind to think, to question truth, and to link ideas carefully. We study the world not just to know it, but to understand how to live within it.

SUNDAY

We people usually try hard to hide our emotions.
We smile even when we feel nothing.
We all do right?
We people act okay -until we believe it.
Or until we make others believe 'we' are okay even when we forgot what 'okay' even meant...
But sometimes emotions betray you...
They slip out in your tired voice.
They appear in the silence you can't explain... But the moment when you suddenly stop in the middle of sentence, because some part of you doesn't want to talk anymore...
I often think about the past.
Not because it was perfect, but atleast it was honest to me.
There was a lot of chaos but alteast I understood that...
Right now I feel like a stranger in my own mind...
Trying to walk on a path that doesn't feel like mine...
In nights, I lie on my bed, phone beside me Books open but eyes Blank...

BETWEEN EXPECTATIONS AND DREAMS

They tell me who a girl should be, Soft in voice, strong quietly.
They plan my future step by step, Before I learn to choose for myself.

I carry dreams behind my smile, Hidden fears, growing all the while.
The world gives rules, dresses up as care; Asks me to fit, not to dare.

But youth is fire—fearless and bold, It questions old paths, seeks something new.
I walk ahead, not torn, not afraid.

I am not just what they expect— I am the future; I deserve respect.

THE GREAT ENGLISH LANGUAGE MEETING

Once upon a time, in the wonderfully confusing world of English, the words finally lost their patience. Tired of being misunderstood every day, they called an emergency meeting in the Grand Hall of Letters.

The vowels — A, E, I, O, and U — sat proudly in the front, while the consonants murmured in the back, unsure whether this meeting was really necessary.

I stood up dramatically.
"I'm exhausted: in cat I sound one way, in cake another, and in bread I'm hardly heard at all. Humans, please decide!"

In the back rows, the silent letters held a quiet support circle. The h from knife wiped away tears. "Am I even here if no one says my name?" the gh in though sighed. The b from doubt smiled, "At last, people remember I exist!"

Suddenly, GH burst into the room. "In ghost I sound like G, in laugh I sound like F, and in though I sound like nothing at all! I deserve consistency!"

Nearby, words like big, huge, and enormous argued about who was truly bigger. Meanwhile, the room filled with polite chaos as letters and words tried to make sense of themselves.

A LETTER TO MY FUTURE SELF

I write from the trembling edge of dawn,
Where dreams are fragile as glass,
Yet fearless as flame.

I am Vanshika—
A seeker of stories,
A student of hearts and histories,
Learning that the past breathes
Not only in pages,
But in the pulse of the brave.

If the world ever dims your fire,
Remember this girl
Who dared to feel deeply,
Who stood unmasked,
Who carried truth like a lantern.

Hold kindness as your armor,
Let questions lift you skyward.
Do not fold.
Do not fade.

For you were born
Not merely to succeed,
But to rise—
To scatter light
Like stars across the dark.

TURN TIME INTO POWER

The clock keeps time; it will not wait, Each second slips, a quiet weight.
Moments flow like silver streams, Holding the seed of all our dreams.

The years ahead lie wide and bare, A blank-washed canvas, waiting there.
Failures come and fears will rise, But courage grows when time is wise.

Shape your habits, steady your mind, Leave idle doubts and drift behind.
Each choice you make, both small and grand, Writes the story of your hand.

Change will come as sure as day; The path is yours — do not betray.
Turn time to power, hour by hour, And stand, unshaken, like a tower.

SEEDS OF WISDOM

IS HOMEWORK IN INDIAN SCHOOLS BECOMING A USELESS EXERCISE?

Homework, traditionally seen as an essential part of school education, is rapidly losing its value in many Indian schools. Once meant to help students reinforce learning, develop discipline, and apply concepts creatively, homework has now become a mechanical, monotonous task that offers little educational benefit. In its current form, it appears to be more of a burden than a tool for intellectual growth.

In most Indian classrooms, teachers write answers on the blackboard, and students copy them blindly into their notebooks. Homework assignments often follow the same pattern — questions are copied from textbooks and students are expected to write down answers, which they mostly source from Google or tuition notes. This practice encourages rote learning rather than meaningful understanding. As a result, students merely memorize facts to reproduce them in examinations, without gaining any real insight into the subject matter.

The original purpose of homework was to encourage independent thinking, help students revise classroom learning, and gradually build responsibility and time management skills. However, the way homework is assigned and executed today fails to meet these goals. Students rarely apply critical thinking or creativity while doing homework. There is little or no scope for experimentation, problem-solving, or innovation. Skills like communication, collaboration, or digital literacy — which are crucial in the modern world — are not developed through repetitive writing exercises.

Furthermore, the pressure to complete homework often leads students to take shortcuts. Many copy answers from peers, use AI tools or search engines without understanding the content, or rely on private tutors. This not only defeats the purpose of self-learning but also widens the gap between academically strong and weak students. For some, homework becomes a source of anxiety and demotivation rather than an opportunity to grow.

Teachers, too, are overburdened with large class sizes and multiple responsibilities. Due to time constraints, many resort to giving ready-made answers to save time and maintain completion records. In such cases, even the evaluation of homework becomes a formality, with little constructive feedback given to the students.

If the Indian education system truly wants to promote 21st-century skills, the concept and content of homework need urgent reform. Homework should be designed in a way that it encourages inquiry, reflection, and creativity. For example, instead of asking students to write textbook answers, teachers can assign small research tasks, real-life problem-solving activities, or creative projects. Students can be encouraged to conduct interviews, build models, or even express their learning through art, storytelling or digital presentations.

Education should not be about just passing exams — it should be about preparing students for life. A system that rewards cramming over comprehension are not just out dated but damaging. It's time Indian schools reimagine homework as a meaningful, engaging and skill-oriented part of learning. Only then can we create learners who think, question and innovate — not just memorize and replicate.

MYSTERIES OF LIFE

Life drifts unseen, a river without banks,
Its currents whisper truths too vast for one heart.
Sorrow hollows valleys, yet within those wounds
Joy takes root, reminding us that absence is fertile.

Silence, unmeasured, speaks louder than speech,
Teaching that meaning is not in words,
But in the spaces where words dissolve.

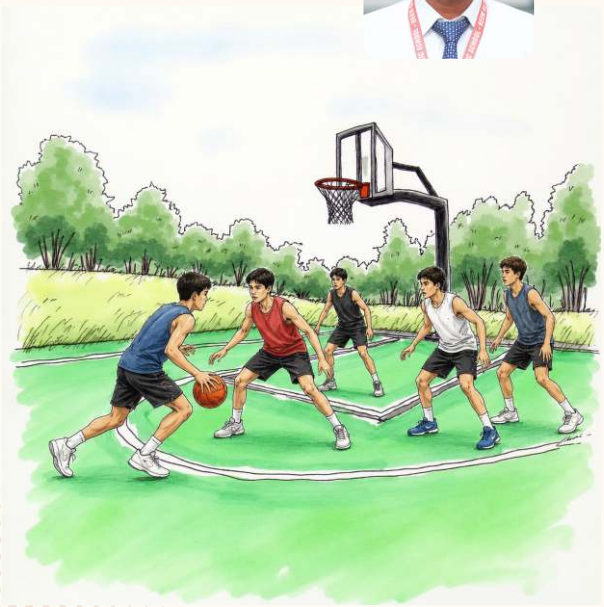

The stars scatter riddles across the night,
Not to be solved, but to remind us
That the universe is a question without end.
Each dawn rises not with answers,
But with deeper mysteries,
As if existence itself were inquiry.

We walk through shadows,
We dance in light,
Never knowing if our steps are scripted
Or chosen in freedom.
Perhaps both—perhaps neither.

The mystery is not a puzzle to complete,
But a presence to inhabit.
To breathe the questions,
To cradle the unknown,
To live as if wonder itself
Were the only certainty.

THE COURT IS OUR CANVAS

As the basketball coach, I'm honored to share my thoughts on the beautiful game that has given me so much. Basketball isn't just a sport; it's a platform where character is built, teamwork is forged, and lifelong memories are created.

The Heart of the Game

At its core, basketball teaches us invaluable life skills. Teamwork makes the dream work. Players quickly learn that success isn't about individual glory but about working together toward a common goal. The court becomes a classroom where communication, trust, and collaboration are put to the test.

The Pursuit of Excellence

I often tell my players: hard work beats talent. Raw talent can take you far, but dedication and perseverance will take you further. The grind of practice—the sweat, the early mornings—pays off when the team gels and the baskets start dropping.

Respect is Key

Sportsmanship is everything? Respect your opponents, your teammates, and your coaches. It's not just about winning; it's about how you play the game. The values of integrity, humility, and respect are lessons that extend far beyond the court.

To My Players

To the talented athletes I have the privilege to coach: keep pushing yourselves. Believe in each other, challenge each other, and never settle for anything less than your best. The journey is tough, but the rewards are worth it.

To the School Community

To the rest of the school, I invite you to come cheer us on. Be part of our journey, celebrate our wins, and learn from our losses. Your support fuels us to do better.

Let's make this season unforgettable.

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT FOR GPS SCHOOL: SHREYASHI BECOMES FIRST NATIONAL PLAYER

GPS School proudly announces a landmark achievement: Shreyashi Jakhar of Class 7 has become the first student from our school to be selected for the CBSE National Cricket Tournament.

Eight talented students from GPS took part in the CBSE West Zone Cricket Trials. All eight were selected to represent the West Zone in the zonal competition. Their performances at the West Zone event earned several medals: gold for Shreyashi and the team; bronze for Palak Jeff, Mithali, and Angel for outstanding performance; and silver for Anya Sharma, Khushi Chaudhary, Himanshi, and Aarohi Chaudhary.

The West Zone team performed admirably at the CBSE National Cricket Tournament held in November, bringing home a bronze medal. On their return, the school honoured the players in a felicitation ceremony. Shreyashi and Coach Manohar Singh were specially recognised by Chairman Sampat Beniwal, Director K. Satyendra, and Principal P. K. Bhati for their dedication and achievement.

A message from Shreyashi Jakhar, Class 7

"I am honoured to have represented the West Zone at the national level. I received gold and a bronze medal at the tournament. I give all the credit to GPS School, my coach, and my parents for their encouragement and support. This success motivates me to work harder and inspire other students."

Congratulations to all the players and coaches for bringing pride to GPS School.

SPORTS: DIAMONDS OF LIFE–THE SPIRIT OF TAEKWONDO

Sports are an essential part of student life. Like diamonds, they add lasting value to our personality and character, making us physically strong, mentally alert, and emotionally balanced. Through sports, students learn discipline, teamwork, patience, and dedication–qualities that shine in every part of life.

Among many sports, Taekwondo holds a special place. This Korean martial art emphasizes self-defense, respect, and self-discipline. Taekwondo trains the body and strengthens the mind; students who practice it develop confidence, focus, and a deep respect for teachers, parents, and fellow players.

Perseverance is one of core values of Taekwondo. Just as a diamond is polished to reveal its brilliance, a Taekwondo practitioner improves through regular practice and dedication. Every kick, every drill, and every training session teaches patience and determination.

Sports also teach us how to face victory and defeat. Winning builds confidence; losing teaches resilience and the will to work harder. These experiences shape our character and prepare us for life's challenges.

Regular participation in sports and martial arts improves physical fitness as well. It builds strength, flexibility, balance, and coordination, while reducing stress and keeping the mind fresh.

In conclusion, sports are more than games –they are the diamonds of life that shape our character. Taekwondo, with its values of discipline, respect, and perseverance, helps students become stronger, more confident, and more responsible. When students embrace sports and martial arts, they discover the shining diamonds within themselves.

INTROVERTY AND HESITATION IN STUDENTS

Understanding the Quiet Voices Every classroom has students who eagerly answer questions and participate in activities. At the same time, there are students who prefer to stay quiet, observe carefully, and think before speaking. These students are often called introverts. Unfortunately, their silence is sometimes mistaken for a lack of confidence or interest. Introversion is a personality trait, not a weakness. Introverted students usually enjoy spending time alone, thinking deeply, and working independently. They may not always express their ideas openly, but they often have creative thoughts and valuable opinions. However, hesitation can become a challenge for many students, especially introverts. Fear of making mistakes, being judged, or speaking in front of others can stop them from participating in class discussions, competitions, or leadership activities.

This hesitation may affect their confidence and prevent them from showing their true potential. Schools should create an environment where every student feels safe, respected, and heard. Students can also overcome hesitation by taking small steps. Speaking up once in class, joining a club, or participating in simple activities can gradually build confidence. Remember, confidence is not about speaking the loudest—it is about believing in yourself. Every student is unique. Introverts bring qualities such as careful thinking, creativity, empathy, and strong listening skills. Instead of trying to change who they are, we should celebrate their strengths and support them in overcoming hesitation.

Conclusion Silence does not mean weakness, and hesitation does not define a person's abilities. With encouragement, patience, and self-belief, every student—whether introverted or extroverted—can grow into a confident and successful individual. Let us build a school where every voice, loud or quiet, is valued and respected.

THE SCIENCE BEHIND EVERYDAY THINGS HAPPENING IN THE SCHOOL

The school environment, often perceived as routine and familiar, is underpinned by a remarkable array of scientific principles that operate silently yet indispensably. From the friction that enables chalk to leave visible traces on a blackboard to the electromagnetic induction powering classroom fans and projectors, science permeates every facet of daily academic life. The ink in pens relies on capillary action to flow smoothly onto paper, while the geometry of desks and chairs is informed by ergonomics to promote comfort and sustained concentration. Even the humble school bell is a product of acoustic engineering, transforming electrical energy into sound waves that regulate institutional rhythm. Collectively, these commonplace objects exemplify how fundamental laws of physics, chemistry, and biology converge to create an efficient learning ecosystem, reminding us that science is not confined to laboratories but is intricately woven into our everyday educational experiences.

FROM DESTINY TO IDENTITY: MY JOURNEY AS A TEACHER

Life often takes us on paths we never plan, yet those very paths define who we become. My journey in the teaching profession is one such story—a journey that began not by choice, but by chance, and eventually became my identity.

I stepped into the world of teaching in 2004, and by 2006, I officially became a part of this noble profession. At that time, I never imagined that teaching would become such an inseparable part of my life. Mathematics was my favorite subject, and although I always liked English as a language, I never thought it would become the medium through which I would earn my name and recognition.

But destiny had its own plans.
With time, what started as an accidental step slowly transformed into a meaningful journey. Teaching taught me much more than I could ever teach my students. It shaped my personality, strengthened my confidence, and gave me a sense of purpose.

My journey was beautifully molded by two important institutions. At Radhika Inter College, I learned the true meaning of duty and discipline. It laid the foundation of my professional ethics. Later, at Sant Sewak Public School, I discovered creativity—the art of expressing, innovating, and connecting with students in unique ways. These two institutions have given me some of the best experiences of my life and played a significant role in shaping the teacher I am today.

Today, when people address me as “Ma'am,” it is more than just a word. It carries respect, trust, and a deep sense of identity. It reminds me of how far I have come–from someone who never planned to teach, to someone who is known and recognized as a teacher.

IMPORTANCE OF A ROUGH COPY IN STUDENT LIFE

A rough copy is an essential part of every student's learning journey. It is a notebook used for practice, planning, and making mistakes without fear. It helps students improve their understanding and develop good study habits.

A rough copy allows students to solve sums, practice writing, prepare diagrams, and make quick notes during class. It gives them the freedom to learn through trial and error before writing neat work in their fair notebooks.

Using a rough copy also improves handwriting, problem-solving skills, and creativity. Students can revise difficult topics, practice spellings, write rough drafts of essays, and solve extra questions regularly. This repeated practice builds confidence and leads to better performance in examinations.

Another important benefit of a rough copy is that it helps students stay organized. They can record ideas, homework, reminders, and important points in one place, making revision easier.

In conclusion, a rough copy is more than just a notebook—it is a valuable learning tool. Every student should use a rough copy regularly because consistent practice is the key to success.

THE DIGITAL ALCHEMY–HOW COMPUTER SCIENCE IS CRAFTING A MAGICAL WORLD

Introduction

In the modern era the line between science fiction and reality has blurred; computer science acts as a kind of digital alchemy, turning lines of code into everyday miracles. From booking a train ticket in seconds to summoning a cab to your doorstep, technology has reshaped convenience, connection, and commerce—so thoroughly that invisible systems now hum beneath daily life and shape how we live, work, and relate.

The Magic of Convenience

Long queues and tedious errands have been replaced by a few intuitive taps. Cab-booking and hotel reservation apps bring mobility and travel planning into our palms. Food delivery platforms connect neighbourhood kitchens to global cuisines, while e-commerce delivers goods across continents with surprising speed and reliability. Even the cinema experience has been streamlined—tickets, snacks, and seat selection are arranged before we leave home. This is not mere comfort; it is a reconfiguration of time and attention, letting people spend less effort on logistics and more on meaningful pursuits.

The Death of Distance Real-Time Connection

Distance has lost its old power. Instant messaging and video calls let voices and faces cross oceans in an instant, shrinking the world into a true Global Village. For families separated by migration, for students collaborating across time zones, and for professionals coordinating projects worldwide, these tools are not luxuries but necessities. The emotional and economic cost of long-distance communication has fallen dramatically, and relationships now persist and flourish across borders.

A Smarter Reality Internet of Things and Smart Cities

Objects are learning to speak to one another. The Internet of Things connects devices so homes, offices, and public spaces respond intelligently to human needs—smart bulbs, remote appliances, and real-time security cameras are everyday examples. On a civic scale, Smart Cities use sensors and data to ease traffic, conserve energy, and improve public safety. Jaipur's own urban initiatives show how local planning and technology can combine to make streets safer and services more efficient, turning municipal systems into responsive partners for citizens.

India's Digital Revolution

Digital payments have become a defining feature of India's transformation. Systems like UPI have woven digital transactions into daily life—from roadside vendors to large retailers—making payments faster, more transparent, and widely accessible. This shift has not only simplified commerce but also expanded financial inclusion, enabling more people to participate in the formal economy and benefit from digital services.

Conclusion

Computer Science has simplified the complex, brought the distant closer, and made the once-impossible routine. We are the architects of this magical world; the responsibility now is to wield our digital wand wisely—designing systems that are inclusive, secure, and humane. If we do, the next chapter of digital alchemy will be not just more convenient, but more just and extraordinary for everyone.

"The magic of the 21st century isn't found in a wizard's hat, but in the lines of code that make the impossible, every day."

AI AND COMPUTERS IN OUR DAILY LIFE

In the modern world, computers have become an important part of our daily life. We use them for studying, working, playing games, and learning new things. Today, Artificial Intelligence (AI) is making computers even smarter.

What is AI?

AI means Artificial Intelligence. It is a technology that allows machines to think and learn like humans. Just like our brain helps us think and make decisions, AI helps computers to do the same work.

AI Around Us

AI is present everywhere in our daily life. When we use voice assistants like Google Assistant or Alexa, it is AI. When we get video suggestions on YouTube or directions on Google Maps, AI is working behind it. Mobile phones also use AI for face unlock and taking better photos.

Computers in the Future

In the future, computers will become more powerful and intelligent. Robots may help doctors in hospitals and teachers in schools. Self-driving cars may reduce accidents. AI will help us solve difficult problems easily and quickly.

Benefits of AI

- Saves time
- Makes work easier
- Helps in learning
- Gives quick answers

Conclusion

AI and computers are changing our lives. They help us learn faster and do work more efficiently. If we use them wisely, they can make our future smarter and better.

ECONOMICS

The world has experimented with a range of economic systems — from laissez-faire capitalism and centrally planned models to various mixed economies. Despite these shifts, human wants often exceed the supply of natural resources, creating persistent scarcity. This reality has spurred societies to seek new opportunities centered on human development and technological innovation rather than mere extraction of finite materials.

Human capital — skills, knowledge, creativity, and the capacity for research and development — is an enduring and renewable resource. When governments, businesses, and communities invest in education, healthcare, and R&D, they expand this inbuilt resource and unlock alternatives that reduce dependence on raw materials. Innovations such as renewable energy, circular manufacturing, digital services, and efficient resource management demonstrate how human ingenuity can satisfy needs with a smaller ecological footprint.

Sustainable development requires aligning economic policy with long-term human well-being and environmental stewardship. Policies that promote lifelong learning, public–private research partnerships, and equitable access to technology create resilient economies. Such economies not only meet basic needs but also foster inclusive growth, ensuring that the benefits of innovation reach broad segments of society and strengthen social cohesion.

Unchecked consumption and short-term greed remain threats to sustainability. To counteract these tendencies, societies must prioritize systems that reward efficiency, reuse, and shared prosperity. By shifting emphasis from short-term resource exploitation to sustained investment in people and ideas, economies can build prosperity that endures across generations.

THE QUIET CLASSROOM OF FEELINGS

In every heart, a classroom stays,
Where feelings sit in silent rows.
Some raise hands with joyful smiles,
Some hide where no one ever goes.
Happiness laughs on the windowpane,
While fear sits softly in the back.
Hope writes dreams in colored chalk,
And doubt erases parts we lack.
Anger storms like sudden rain,
Tears blur lessons we once knew.
Yet kindness waits like morning light,
Teaching hearts to start a new.
If we listen beyond the noise,
And read emotions, line by line,
We learn the most important truth—
Every feeling helps us shine.
So let us teach, not just with words,
But hearts that feel and understand,
For emotional wisdom is the art
That shapes the future of our land.

ESSAY

School plays a very important role in every child's life by providing an environment that helps them look within and identify their true potential. Through a conducive atmosphere, constant encouragement, and disciplined guidance from teachers along with the support of parents, children learn to recognize and achieve their goals.

In today's highly competitive world, it is a challenge for teachers to help students realize their capabilities, which makes a strong and positive teacher-student relationship essential for guiding them toward success and a bright future. Students should be motivated in a balanced and meaningful way, filling their minds with enthusiasm, self-respect, and knowledge, along with the values of discipline and etiquette, all strengthened by hard work. When these qualities take root within them, they develop the right mindset to understand the value of education and personal growth.

Teachers and parents should not feel discouraged by slow progress, as every small step builds confidence and determination. With proper motivation, students gain the strength to overcome stress and challenges, develop a strong desire to achieve their goals, and become capable of facing life with creativity and confidence. Creating such a nurturing environment is one of the most fulfilling aspects of education, where students grow not only academically but also as responsible and successful individuals.

MATHEMATICS: FROM FEAR TO FRIENDSHIP

For many students, mathematics feels like an uninvited guest—cold, confusing, and sometimes even frightening. The moment numbers, formulas, or equations appear, anxiety begins to grow. But what if this fear is not because mathematics is difficult, but because we have never truly tried to understand it as a friend?

Mathematics is not just about solving problems; it is a language that explains the world around us. From the symmetry of a flower to the rhythm of music, from counting money to planning a journey—math is everywhere. When we start seeing mathematics in daily life, it becomes less of a subject and more of a companion.

Fear often comes from pressure—the pressure to get the right answer quickly, to score marks, or to avoid mistakes. But mistakes are not enemies in mathematics; they are guides. Every wrong answer shows us a new way to think and helps us understand concepts more deeply.

Just like a true friend, mathematics teaches us patience, logic, and persistence.

To turn mathematics into a friend, we need to change our approach. Instead of memorizing formulas, try to understand why they work. Instead of avoiding difficult problems, break them into smaller steps. Practice regularly, not as a burden, but as a habit. Ask questions without hesitation, because curiosity is the key to learning.

Another important step is to build confidence gradually. Start with simple problems and celebrate small successes. As confidence grows, even complex problems begin to look manageable. Mathematics rewards effort—every minute you spend understanding it makes the next step easier.

Teachers and parents also play a vital role. Encouragement, patience, and a positive attitude can transform a student's mindset. When learning becomes enjoyable rather than stressful, mathematics naturally becomes less intimidating.

In the end, mathematics is not something to fear. It is a powerful tool, a problem-solver, and a guide to logical thinking. When we treat it with curiosity and openness, it stops being a challenge and starts becoming a friend.

So, the next time you open your math book, don't think of it as a test of your ability. Think of it as a conversation—with a friend who is always ready to help you grow.

WHY FINANCIAL LITERACY SHOULD BE TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS

Financial literacy is an essential life skill that helps people make smart decisions about money. Teaching financial literacy in schools prepares students to manage their finances responsibly from an early age. They learn important concepts such as budgeting, saving, investing, and using credit wisely.

Many young people enter adulthood without knowing how to manage their income or avoid debt. Financial education gives them the confidence to make informed financial choices, plan for the future, and achieve their goals. It also encourages responsible spending and develops good money-management habits.

Including financial literacy in school education equips students with practical knowledge that they will use throughout their lives. By teaching these skills early, schools can help create financially responsible, independent, and successful individuals.

SCIENCE BEHIND FESTIVALS AND TRADITIONS

India is a land of diverse festivals and rich traditions. While these customs are deeply rooted in culture and faith, many of them also have scientific significance.

For example, lighting earthen lamps during festivals helps brighten homes and traditionally reduced the presence of insects in the evening. Decorating homes with natural flowers and leaves improves the surroundings and adds freshness. Many traditional foods prepared during different seasons are rich in nutrients that help our bodies adapt to changing weather. Practices such as cleaning homes before festivals promote hygiene and reduce the spread of diseases.

Science teaches us to understand the reasons behind our traditions. When culture and science go hand in hand, they help us lead healthier, happier, and more meaningful lives.

Our festivals remind us that knowledge and tradition can complement each other. By preserving our cultural heritage while embracing scientific thinking, we can respect our past and build a brighter future.

ORGANIC FARMING

Organic farming is a method of agriculture that uses natural resources and eco-friendly practices to grow crops and raise animals. It avoids the use of chemical fertilizers, pesticides, and genetically modified seeds. Instead, organic farmers use compost, cow dung manure, crop rotation, green manure, and biological pest control to keep the soil fertile and crops healthy.

One of the main benefits of organic farming is that it improves soil quality. Natural manure adds nutrients to the soil and helps it retain water. Crop rotation prevents the soil from losing the same nutrients year after year. Organic farming also protects rivers, ponds, and groundwater from harmful chemical pollution.

Organic food is considered healthier because it is grown without many artificial chemicals. It is also safer for farmers, as they do not have to handle dangerous pesticides. In addition, organic farming supports biodiversity by protecting useful insects, birds, and microorganisms.

However, organic farming can be challenging. It may require more labour and careful planning. In the beginning, crop production may be lower than chemical farming. Organic products can also be more expensive because they take more time and effort to produce.

In conclusion, organic farming is an important step towards sustainable agriculture. It protects the environment, improves soil health, and provides safer food. By encouraging organic farming, we can help create a healthier future for people and the planet.

SCIENCE IN THE VEDAS: ANCIENT WISDOM AND MODERN CURIOSITY

The Vedas are among the oldest known texts in the world and form the foundation of ancient Indian knowledge and philosophy. They contain hymns, prayers, rituals, and reflections on nature, life, and the universe. Beyond their spiritual significance, the Vedas have often been discussed for the scientific ideas they appear to contain. Exploring these texts offers an opportunity to understand how ancient people observed the natural world and sought to explain it.

One remarkable feature of the Vedas is their emphasis on careful observation of nature. They describe the movements of the Sun, Moon, stars, seasons, rivers, plants, and animals, showing that early scholars paid close attention to the environment. Such observations were essential for agriculture, navigation, and the development of calendars.

The knowledge associated with the Vedic tradition also contributed to fields such as mathematics, astronomy, medicine, and environmental understanding. Ancient Indian scholars developed methods of calculation, studied celestial movements, and created systems for measuring time. Traditional medical knowledge, later compiled in texts such as Ayurveda, focused on maintaining health through diet, herbs, hygiene, and balance in daily life. These ideas continue to influence holistic approaches to health today.

At the same time, it is important to distinguish between historical evidence and modern interpretations. Some popular claims suggest that the Vedas describe advanced technologies or scientific discoveries identical to those of modern science. While these claims are widely discussed, many historians and scientists argue that they should be examined carefully and supported by reliable evidence. Appreciating the Vedas does not require attributing to them every modern scientific achievement.

The enduring value of the Vedas lies in their spirit of inquiry, respect for nature, and pursuit of knowledge. They encourage reflection, disciplined learning, and harmony between human beings and the environment. These principles remain relevant in an age when scientific progress and environmental sustainability are both essential.

In conclusion, the Vedas represent an important part of humanity's intellectual heritage. They preserve ancient observations and philosophical insights that have inspired generations of scholars. By studying them with both respect and critical thinking, we can better appreciate their historical significance while recognizing the methods and discoveries of modern science. The dialogue between ancient wisdom and contemporary research continues to enrich our understanding of the world.

SMART CLASSROOMS AND DIGITAL LEARNING

Have you ever imagined learning about the solar system by taking a virtual tour through space or understanding mathematics with animated examples? This is exactly what smart classrooms and digital learning make possible. They have transformed education from simple chalk-and-board teaching into an exciting and interactive experience.

Today, smart boards, educational apps, videos, online quizzes, and digital libraries help students understand concepts more clearly. Difficult topics become easier to learn through animations, simulations, and real-life examples. Students can also revise lessons, attend online classes, and access study materials anytime, making learning flexible and convenient.

Digital learning not only improves knowledge but also develops important 21st-century skills such as creativity, critical thinking, collaboration, and digital literacy. At the same time, it is essential to use technology responsibly. Spending too much time on screens or becoming distracted by unnecessary online content can reduce the effectiveness of learning.

Smart classrooms do not replace teachers—they empower them. A caring teacher, supported by modern technology, creates a learning environment where every student can explore, ask questions, and grow with confidence. By embracing digital learning wisely, we are preparing ourselves for a brighter, smarter, and more innovative future.

FEAR OF FAILURE: GREATEST BARRIER TO SUCCESS

In the words of Sven Goran Eriksson, a Swedish football player, “The greatest barrier to success is the fear of failure.” There is another saying, “Failures are the pillars of Success”. Success is a journey; not a destiny. We have our vision, mission and objectives of life. We set our goals and do hard work to attain them. After we reach one goal, we go on to the next and so on. We take birth; our journey of life starts. We try to stand up; we fall. Can we leave this exercise merely due to the fear of falling again and again? Every step in life gives us a new experience. There are many examples in history how the people got success after many failures. All the great men of the world-the religious reformers, the scientists & others- were men of great determination. They had to face obstacles and failures in the fulfillment of their mission but they were able to achieve their goal.

When we fail in exam we are upset, when we fail in an interview we are upset but actually these are not our failures instead an attempt towards success. Robert Bruce, king of Scotland, fought many battles, but was defeated every time. He took his failure as an inspiration and finally succeeded.

Success and failures are like the two sides of a coin. A man is always happy with his success and obviously sad in his failure. The foundation of success becomes stronger only when it passes through many failures or obstacles. Failure makes a man more devoted towards his duty. So, we should not get discouraged ourselves with our failures. When we fail once, we have the experience of failure. We learn by experience in second attempt. Our experience makes us wiser and bolder. Then, there will be the foundation of success. In fact success depends upon wisdom and self-confidence.

THE PHYSICS OF A HAPPY BRAIN

As your physics teacher, I spend most of my time talking about forces, energy, gravity...but the most fascinating machine in the known universe is—your brain.

Unlike your mobile phone, your brain doesn't come with a charger. It has something even better: science-backed habits that keep it running at full power.

The first rule of good mental health is sleep. Teenagers need 8–10 hours of sleep every night. While you sleep, your brain is busy organizing memories, repairing itself, and preparing you to learn new things. Think of it as a softwareupdate. If you skip the update, don't complain when your "system" starts lagging!

Students who regularly sleep less than 7 hours have higher rates of anxiety, depression, and poor academic performance.

The second habit is exercise. "GUDHA EDUCATION HUB" care for student's exercise part also.You don't have to become an Olympic athlete. A brisk walk in morning sunlight,playing a sport for 20–30 minutes most days improves memory. Exercise releases chemicals called endorphins, often called the brain's "feel-good"molecules.

So yes, running away from homework doesn't count—but running in the park certainly does!Third comes good food. Your brain uses about 20% of your body's energy, so it deserves quality fuel. Fruits, vegetables, whole grains, nuts, milk, and pulses help your brain function better. On the other hand, surviving only on chips and soft drinks is like trying to run a rocket on lemonade.

Another powerful habit is managing screen time. Social media is entertaining, but endless scrolling often steals sleep and increases stress. Remember, comparing your real life to someone else's carefully edited highlights is like comparing your homework to Einstein's Nobel Prize—it simply isn't fair.

Friendships also matter. Humans are social creatures. Even electrons don't like being lonely—they're always interacting with other particles!Learning how to handle stress is equally important. A little stress before an exam can motivate you, but too much stress for too long can affect memory and mood. Deep breathing, journal writing, talking to someone you trust, spending time outdoors, or simply taking short breaks while studying can make a big difference.

Finally, never hesitate to ask for help. If you feel persistently sad, anxious, or overwhelmed, speak to your parents, teachers, or a school counsellor. Asking for help is not a sign of weakness; it is a sign of wisdom.

To conclude i want to give you a physics analogy:

"Imagine your brain is like a complex laboratory instrument. If the power supply is unstable, the temperature is too high, the wiring is damaged,and maintenance is ignored, even the best instrument gives poor results.

Your sleep is the power supply. Exercise is the cooling system. Healthy food is the fuel. Friends are the support structure. Learning is the experiment.

Take care of the instrument, and it will perform brilliantly."

This simple analogy will help you understand that mental health is not a sign of weakness—it is a foundation for learning, creativity, and success.

I'll leave you with one last thought:

"Take care of your brain today, and it will take care of your dreams tomorrow."

Remember, in physics we learn that every actionhas a reaction. The same is true for your daily habits. Good habits create a healthier mind, and a healthier mind creates a brighter future.

A FATHER'S STRUGGLE IS GREATER THAN HIS JOB

This incident dates back to 2015. At that time, I was teaching Class 12 students preparing for the PMT (now NEET) entrance examination.

There was a student in my class who always sat in the last row. He rarely paid attention to his studies and was quite mischievous. One thing I noticed about him was that he seemed to change his appearance almost every day. Sometimes he came wearing expensive branded shoes, sometimes stylish sunglasses, and at other times he styled his hair with gel to create a different look.

I advised him several times to focus on his studies, but he never seemed to take my words seriously. One day, I asked him, "Son, what does your father do?"

With great confidence, he replied, "Sir, my father works for a multinational company in Bengaluru on a very high salary package."

Hearing his answer, I assumed that he belonged to a well-off family. I decided not to be too strict with him, and the conversation ended there.

A few weeks later, while I was walking through the institute's lobby, I saw the same student sitting with an elderly man. As soon as the student noticed me, he greeted me respectfully. The elderly man also greeted me, and I returned the greeting with folded hands.

Smiling, the elderly man asked, "Sir, how is my son doing in his studies?"

I replied positively, "He is an average student. If he studies regularly and works hard, he has a good chance of qualifying for PMT."

During our conversation, I casually asked, "Sir, when did you come from Bengaluru?"

The moment I asked this, the elderly man smiled and said, "No, Sir. I don't live in Bengaluru. I work as a peon in a private school."

The student immediately lowered his head in embarrassment.

The next day, I called the student to my office and asked, "Why did you lie to me?"

In a soft voice, he replied, "Sir, I lied because I didn't want my classmates to make fun of me by calling me 'the peon's son.' That's why I tell everyone that my father works in a high position at a big company."

I then asked, "And what about the expensive shoes, glasses, and all these things?"

He answered, "Sir, my elder sister works in a bank. Sometimes I borrow money from her."

After listening to him, I gently said, "Son, your father may be a peon, but he is working honestly and tirelessly to build your future. That is not something to be ashamed of—it is something to be proud of. A person's dignity is not determined by their job title but by their honesty, hard work, and character. Your father's work is respectable, and you should never feel the need to hide the truth or be ashamed of who he is."

He listened quietly without saying a word. His eyes reflected both regret for his mistake and a renewed sense of respect and pride for his father.

CAPTURING THE SOUL OF OUR SCHOOL

The Journey of a School Photographer & Videographer

Every school has a heartbeat. It echoes in morning assemblies, sports victories, cultural performances, science exhibitions, classroom discussions, and the smiles shared between friends. As the School Photographer and Videographer, my responsibility is not merely to take pictures or record videos—it is to preserve these moments and transform them into memories that will inspire students for years to come.

Why Visual Storytelling Matters

A photograph freezes a moment. A video brings it to life. Together, they tell the story of our school—its values, achievements, traditions, and dreams. Parents may not witness every activity on campus, but through photographs and videos they can feel the joy, confidence, and growth of their children.

Through visual media, we celebrate learning, discipline, creativity, teamwork, and excellence. Each frame becomes a chapter in the history of our institution.

The Power of Creativity

A camera captures what the eye sees, but creativity captures what the heart feels. Good school photography is not about expensive equipment alone. It is about timing, observation, patience, and understanding emotions. The proud smile of a student receiving an award or the excitement of a team winning a match can become timeless memories when captured with care.

A Message to Students

Every day in school is a page in your life story. Participate, learn, perform, and enjoy each moment. One day, the photographs and videos created today will remind you of friendships, achievements, and the beautiful journey that shaped your future.

The role of a school photographer and videographer is not only technical—it is historical, creative, and emotional. By capturing the spirit of the school, we preserve memories that students will cherish for a lifetime. Through every photograph and every video, we celebrate the journey of learning and create a visual legacy for future generations.

HISTORY: THE MIRROR OF THE PAST, THE GUIDE TO THE FUTURE

History is much more than a collection of dates, battles, and rulers. It is the story of humanity—our achievements, struggles, innovations, and lessons. Every civilization, every revolution, and every great leader has contributed to shaping the world we live in today. As the famous saying goes, “History is the best teacher, because it teaches through experience.”

Studying history helps us understand how societies evolved over time. It explains the origins of cultures, traditions, governments, and democratic values. By learning about the successes and failures of the past, we become better equipped to make informed decisions for the future. History reminds us that peace, justice, and progress are built through courage, wisdom, and collective effort.

India's rich historical heritage is a source of immense pride. From the remarkable urban planning of the Indus Valley Civilization to the intellectual achievements of Nalanda University, from the architectural marvels of the Mughal era to the sacrifices made during the Indian Freedom Struggle, every chapter reflects the resilience, diversity, and brilliance of our nation.

For students, history develops critical thinking, analytical skills, and the ability to evaluate evidence. It encourages us to ask questions, compare different perspectives, and appreciate the importance of facts over assumptions. In today's rapidly changing world, these skills are more valuable than ever.

History also teaches timeless values such as unity, tolerance, perseverance, and patriotism. The lives of great personalities like Mahatma Gandhi, Dr. B. R. Ambedkar, Rani Lakshmibai, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Bhagat Singh, and many others continue to inspire generations with their dedication to the nation and humanity.

BUILDING FINANCIAL WISDOM FOR A BRIGHTER TOMORROW

By the Accountancy Department, Gudha Public School

Education is not merely about scoring marks; it is about preparing students for life. Among all subjects, Accountancy plays a vital role in developing logical thinking, discipline, accuracy, and ethical values. It teaches students how to manage resources wisely, analyse financial information, and make informed decisions—skills that are invaluable in every profession and every stage of life.

At Gudha Public School, we believe that education should inspire excellence while nurturing strong moral values and responsible citizenship. Under the visionary leadership of our respected Principal, Dr. Pradeep Kumar Bhatti, the school has created an environment where academic excellence goes hand in hand with character building, innovation, and holistic development.

As an Accountancy teacher, my endeavour is to make learning practical, engaging, and meaningful. Through real-life examples, case studies, classroom discussions, and consistent practice, students are encouraged to understand concepts rather than memorise them. This approach builds confidence, strengthens analytical abilities, and prepares learners for higher education as well as future careers in commerce, business, finance, and entrepreneurship.

To all our students, I encourage you to remain curious, work diligently, and always uphold the values of honesty and integrity. Success is not achieved overnight; it is the result of perseverance, discipline, and continuous learning.

May Gudha Public School continue to inspire young minds to dream big, learn with passion, and lead with integrity. Together, let us build a future where knowledge becomes the foundation of success and service to society.

MANAGEMENT SKILLS FROM THE BHAGAVAD GITA: A PRACTICAL GUIDE FOR SCHOOL STUDENTS

Imagine This...

It is the morning of your final examination. Your heart is racing, your palms are sweaty, and you suddenly feel as though you have forgotten everything.

Have you ever experienced this?

Now imagine someone saying, "Stay calm. Believe in yourself. Focus on your effort, not on your fear."

This is exactly what Lord Krishna did for Arjuna on the battlefield of Kurukshetra. Although the Bhagavad Gita was spoken thousands of years ago, its wisdom remains relevant even today. It is not just a religious scripture but a practical guide that teaches students how to manage life successfully.

Management Skills from the Gita

1. Self-Management: Learn to control your thoughts, emotions, and habits. Success begins with managing yourself.
2. Time Management: Every student has the same 24 hours. Use your time wisely instead of wasting it on distractions.
3. Stress Management: Stay calm during exams, competitions, and difficult situations. A peaceful mind makes better decisions.
4. Goal Management: Stay focused on your dreams and work consistently toward them.
5. Leadership: A true leader inspires, listens, and helps others rather than forcing them.

Conclusion

The Bhagavad Gita teaches students to manage their minds, time, emotions, and responsibilities. By practising these lessons every day, students can become confident learners, responsible leaders, and compassionate human beings.

बृहस्पति: विज्ञान का अद्भुत ग्रह और वेदों का ज्ञानदाता

सौरमंडल में स्थित बृहस्पति ग्रह न केवल आकार में सबसे बड़ा है, बल्कि इसका प्रभाव भी अत्यंत व्यापक और गहरा है। यह ग्रह वैज्ञानिकों के लिए शोध का महत्वपूर्ण विषय रहा है, वहीं हिन्दू वैदिक परंपरा में इसे 'देवताओं के गुरु' के रूप में सम्मानित किया गया है। बृहस्पति का महत्व केवल खगोल विज्ञान तक सीमित नहीं है, बल्कि यह पृथ्वी की सुरक्षा, संतुलन और मानव जीवन के आध्यात्मिक पहलुओं से भी जुड़ा हुआ है।

वैज्ञानिक दृष्टिकोण से देखा जाए तो बृहस्पति एक गैसीय दानव है, जो मुख्य रूप से हाइड्रोजन और हीलियम से बना है। इसका विशाल आकार और अत्यधिक गुरुत्वाकर्षण शक्तिइसे सौरमंडल का एक महत्वपूर्ण नियंत्रक बनाते हैं। बृहस्पति की गुरुत्वाकर्षण शक्तिइतनी अधिक है कि यह अपने आसपास आने वाले धूमकेतुओं और क्षुद्रग्रहों को अपनी ओर आकर्षित कर लेता है। इस कारण इसे 'पृथ्वी का रक्षक' भी कहा जाता है। 1994 में Shoemaker-Levy 9 नामक धूमकेतु का बृहस्पति से टकराना इसका एक स्पष्ट उदाहरण है, जिसने यह सिद्ध किया कि यदि यह ग्रह न होता, तो ऐसे खगोलीय पिंड पृथ्वी से टकरा सकते थे। इस प्रकार, बृहस्पति न केवल पृथ्वी की सुरक्षा में योगदान देता है, बल्कि अंतरिक्ष में जीवन की संभावनाओं को समझने में भी सहायक है।

हिन्दू धर्म में बृहस्पति को 'गुरु' या 'देवगुरु' कहा जाता है। यह ज्ञान, धर्म, और सदाचार का प्रतीक माना जाता है। वैदिक ज्योतिष में बृहस्पति को सबसे शुभ ग्रह माना गया है, जो व्यक्ति के जीवन में शिक्षा, धन, संतान और भाग्य को प्रभावित करता है। गुरुवार का दिन इसी ग्रह को समर्पित है, और इस दिन पूजा-अर्चना करने से ज्ञान और समृद्धि की प्राप्ति मानी जाती है।

वेदों और पुराणों में बृहस्पति को मंत्रों का स्वामी और देवताओं का मार्गदर्शक बताया गया है। यह केवल एक ग्रह नहीं, बल्कि एक ऐसी आध्यात्मिक शक्तिका प्रतीक है जो मानव जीवन को सही दिशा प्रदान करती है। इस प्रकार, जहाँ विज्ञान बृहस्पति को एक भौतिक शक्तिके रूप में देखता है, वहीं वैदिक परंपरा इसे एक आध्यात्मिक मार्गदर्शक के रूप में प्रस्तुत करती है। अंततः, यह कहा जा सकता है कि बृहस्पति का महत्व बहुआयामी है। वैज्ञानिक रूप से यह पृथ्वी की रक्षा और सौरमंडल के संतुलन में महत्वपूर्ण भूमिका निभाता है, जबकि वैदिक दृष्टिकोण से यह ज्ञान, धर्म और समृद्धि का प्रतीक है। दोनों ही दृष्टिकोण इस बात को दर्शाते हैं कि बृहस्पति का अस्तित्व हमारे लिए अत्यंत महत्वपूर्ण और उपयोगी है। वैज्ञानिक दृष्टिकोण से बृहस्पति सौरमंडल का सबसे बड़ा ग्रह है, जो इतना विशाल है कि इसमें 1300 से अधिक पृथ्वी समा सकती हैं। यह मुख्यतः हाइड्रोजन और हीलियम गैसों से बना है, इसलिए इसे गैस दानव कहा जाता है। बृहस्पति का गुरुत्वाकर्षण अत्यंत शक्तिशाली है। यह अंतरिक्ष में घूम रहे धूमकेतुओं और क्षुद्रग्रहों को अपनी ओर आकर्षित कर पृथ्वी को संभावित खतरों से बचाता है। इस कारण इसे 'पृथ्वी का रक्षक' भी कहा जाता है। इसके 90 से अधिक चंद्रमा हैं, जिनमें म्नतवचं विशेष रूप से वैज्ञानिकों के लिए आकर्षण का केंद्र है, क्योंकि वहाँ बर्फ के नीचे महासागर होने की संभावना है, जो जीवन की खोज में एक नई दिशा देता है। वैदिक दृष्टिकोण से इसे देवताओं का आचार्य माना गया है। यह ज्ञान, धर्म, सत्य और समृद्धि का प्रतीक है। कुंडली में बृहस्पति की स्थिति व्यक्तिके जीवन की दिशा तय करती है। यदि यह ग्रह मजबूत हो, तो व्यक्तिको ज्ञान, सम्मान, धन और सफलता प्राप्त होती है। वहीं कमजोर बृहस्पति जीवन में भ्रम और कठिनाइयाँ ला सकता है। इस दिन पूजा, व्रत और दान करने से व्यक्तिको शुभ फल प्राप्त होते हैं। पीला रंग, हल्दी और चने की दाल बृहस्पति से जुड़े शुभ प्रतीक माने जाते हैं। बृहस्पति केवल एक ग्रह नहीं, बल्कि ज्ञान और शक्तिका अद्भुत प्रतीक है।

निष्कर्ष : विज्ञान और आध्यात्म का सेतु बृहस्पति एक ऐसा अद्भुत संगम है, जहाँ विज्ञान और वेद एक-दूसरे से मिलते हैं। यह ग्रह हमें यह प्रेरणा देता है कि सच्ची प्रगति केवल भौतिक ज्ञान से नहीं, बल्कि आध्यात्मिक समझ से भी होती है।

शिक्षक:भविष्य का शिल्पकार

मैं शब्द नहीं, मैं संस्कार हूँ, मैं दीपक हूँ, तम-नाशक हूँ।
मैं प्रश्न बनकर सोच जगाऊँ, मैं उत्तर बनकर राह दिखाऊँ।
कलम थमाकर हाथों में, हौसलों को उड़ान देता हूँ।
टूटे सपनों के टुकड़ों से, नया विश्वास बनाता हूँ।
मैं केवल पाठ नहीं पढ़ाता, जीवन का अर्थ सिखाता हूँ।
हार में भी जो जीत छुपी हो, वह दृष्टि मैं दिलाता हूँ।
विद्यार्थी ! तुम कच्ची मिट्टी हो, मैं कुम्हार का धैर्य रखता हूँ।
हर आकार में ढालते-ढालते, खुद को भी तपाता हूँ।
तुम कल का उज्ज्वल सूरज हो, मैं प्रभात की पहली रेखा।
मेरे शब्दों से बनती है, तुम्हारे चरित्र की लेखा।
जब तुम ऊँचाइयाँ छूते हो, मेरा श्रम साकार होता है।
शिष्य की सफलता में ही, शिक्षक का संसार होता है।
संदेश - शिक्षक केवल ज्ञानदाता नहीं, वह राष्ट्र-निर्माता भी होता है।

गणित: जीवन की हर सफलता की कुंजी

गणित केवल संख्याओं का विषय नहीं, बल्कि सोचने, समझने और सही निर्णय लेने की कला है। यह हमें तर्क करना, समस्याओं का समाधान ढूँढ़ना और धैर्यपूर्वक कार्य करना सिखाता है।

हमारे दैनिक जीवन में समय का प्रबंधन, पैसों का हिसाब, दूरी का अनुमान और अनेक कार्य गणित के बिना संभव नहीं हैं। इसलिए गणित को केवल परीक्षा का विषय न मानकर जीवन का एक महत्वपूर्ण कौशल समझना चाहिए।

प्रिय विद्यार्थियों, गणित से कभी डरें नहीं। नियमित अभ्यास, ध्यान और आत्मविश्वास के साथ कठिन से कठिन प्रश्न भी सरल बन जाते हैं। याद रखें-''अभ्यास ही सफलता की सबसे बड़ी कुंजी है।''

आइए, हम सभी गणित को आनंद के साथ सीखें, जिज्ञासा के साथ समझें और अपने उज्ज्वल भविष्य की मजबूत नींव रखें।

''गणित हमें केवल उत्तर नहीं, बल्कि सही सोचने का तरीका भी सिखाता है।''

संघर्ष (मेरी समझ)

संघर्ष, अनजान क्षेत्रों की खोज और गलत रास्तों को समझने का एक दर्पण मात्र है जब आप सीखने और लागू करने का प्रयास करते हैं, तो आप उस अनजान क्षेत्र को परिचित बना रहे होते हैं।
इस प्रकार आप अधिक मजबूत, अधिक आत्मविश्वासी, अधिक बुद्धिमान और उस स्थिति का सामना करने के लिए अधिक सक्षम होते हैं। जब फिर से उस स्थिति का सामना करते है।

सोच का महत्व

मनुष्य के जीवन में सोच का बहुत महत्व होता है। जैसा हम सोचते हैं, वैसा ही हमारा व्यवहार बन जाता है। सकारात्मक सोच हमें कठिन परिस्थितियों में भी आगे बढ़ने की प्रेरणा देती है। यह आत्मविश्वास बढ़ाती है और तनाव को कम करती है।

विद्यार्थी जीवन में सकारात्मक सोच बहुत जरूरी होती है। यदि छात्र अपनी असफलता से निराश होने के बजाय उससे सीख लें, तो वे अवश्य सफलता प्राप्त कर सकते हैं। अच्छी सोच और अच्छे विचार हमारे मन को शांत करते हैं तथा हमें सही निर्णय लेने में सहायता करते हैं।

इसलिए हमें हमेशा अच्छे विचार अपनाने चाहिए और अपने मन में यह विश्वास रखना चाहिए कि मेहनत और लगन से हर मुश्किल से मुश्किल लक्ष्य को पाया जा सकता है।

संदेश : ''जैसी सोच, वैसा आपका जीवन।''

वो लड़की-एक आवाज

वो लड़की... हाँ, वही लड़की
जो अक्सर जमाने से छिपती रही, क्योंकि उसे डर नहीं था
शादी से- उसे डर था अपने सपनों के टूट जाने से।
उसे बताया गया- ''तेरी दुनिया तो बस चार दीवारें हैं...''
लेकिन उसने किताबों में आसमान ढूँढ लिया।
रिश्तों की बेड़ियाँ पहनाने की कोशिश हुई,
पर उसने शिक्षा कोअपनी आजादी बना लिया।
रिवाजों ने कहा 'झुक जाओ।' उसने कहा - 'क्यों?'
उसे चूल्हे तक सीमित करना चाहा गया,
स्कूल से बाहर धकेला गया,
पर उसने किताबों को सीने से लगाया
और किस्मत को दोबारा लिखा।
अजब है ये समाज- जिनके जन्म पर
खुशियाँ तक मना नहीं पाते, आज उन्हीं की मुस्कान से
घर, समाज, और ये पूरा जहाँ रोशन है।
वो लड़की
अब छिपती नहीं- अब वो चलती नहीं
-वो राह बनाती है।

कागज के रंग, जिंदगी के संग

कागज के रंग, जिंदगी के संग
कहते हो तुम -
सर, ये आर्ट हमें क्या देगा ?
ना जॉब, ना पैसा... बस टाइम ही लेगा !
पर सुनो जरा, ये रंग जो कागज पर उतरते हैं,
इन्हीं से सपनों के महल निखरते हैं।
आज जो तुम स्केच बना रहे हो,
कल वही पहचान बन जाएगा,
आर्किटेक्ट बनकर तुम,
शहरों को नया आकार दे जाएगा।
जो रंगों से खेलना सीख लिया,
वो दुनिया को रंगीन कर देता है,
डिजाइनर बनकर इंसान,
हर ब्रांड को चमका देता है।
एक पेन्टर की सोच देखो,
कैनवास पर इतिहास लिख देता है,
कभी वही पेंटिंग करोड़ों में बिकती है,
और नाम अमर कर देता है।
कभी एनिमेटर बनकर देखो,
चित्रों में जान भर जाती है,
कार्टून, फिल्में, एनीमेटेड दुनिया,
हर स्क्रीन पर छा जाती है।
जो आज तुम्हें 'सिर्फ ड्राइंग' लगता है,
वो कल इंडस्ट्री बन जाता है,
गेम, मूवी, एडवरटाइजमेंट हर जगह,
आर्ट ही आगे आता है।
ये सिर्फ शौक नहीं,
ये कमाई का एक जरिया है,
फ्रीलांस, डिजिटल आर्ट, सोशल मीडिया,
हर तरफ इसका साया है।
जहाँ शब्द नहीं पहुँच पाते,
वहाँ तस्वीरें बोल उठती हैं,
दिल की हर गहराई को,
रंग आसानी से खोल देती हैं।
तो मत कहो कि 'आर्ट बेकार है',
ये तो हर सपने की जान है,
जो इसे समझ गया दोस्त,
उसके हाथों में पूरा जहान है।

क्योंकि...
एक साधारण सी पेंसिल से शुरू हुआ सफर,
कभी करोड़ों की कहानी बन जाता है,
और जो आर्ट को दिल से अपना ले,
वो दुनिया में अपना नाम कमा जाता है।

नींद त्याग दो पथिक

देखो, ध्येय पथ तुम्हें, है चीखकर उठा रहा।
नींद त्याग दो पथिक, समय निहारो, जा रहा
बारिशों के बाण से हो, तुम डरे छुपे हुए
पर देखती हूँ कि पथ है, पाँव से भरे हुए।
भीगने के भय को छोड़, बोलदो मैं आ रहा
नींद त्याग हो पथिक
पाने को ना उठ सको तो, स्वप्न सारे झूठ है
यह तेरे समय की साफ दिन-दहाड़े लूट है।
सुस्तियों के हाथ में क्यों उम्र को थमा रहा
नींद त्याग दो पथिक धूप-छांव से रंगी वो, है
कंटीली राह जो लक्ष्य हो अगर वही तो, पाँव को उतार दो
कही नहीं वो जा सका, जो सोचता खड़ा रहा
नींद त्याग दो पथिक ...।
बेवजह ही आँख नम है, मन तेरा उदास है।
पतझड़ी की ओट में, छिपी बंसती आस है।
रश्मियों का काफिला, किवाड़ खटखटा रहा।
नींद त्याग दो पथिक ...।
आलस और डर जिसमे हम वो नहीं कर पाते, जो हम कर सकते है
जीवन में इनका सुकून मत चुनना ।
पत्थर में मूरत गढने को लोहा रूप बदलता है हमको नया शिखर देने को रास्ता हमको छलता है ।
माना है ये मुश्किल भारी लेकिन ये तैयारी है जो धावों से सजते है योद्धा पहचाने जाते है संघर्षो की तपती मिट्टी से किरदार निखारे जाते है। किरदार निखारे जाते है ।

खेल: स्वस्थ जीवन और उज्ज्वल भविष्य की पहचान

खेल जीवन का अभिन्न अंग हैं। ये केवल शारीरिक फिटनेस का माध्यम नहीं, बल्कि अनुशासन, आत्मविश्वास, नेतृत्व क्षमता और टीम भावना का भी निर्माण करते हैं। एक खिलाड़ी मैदान में जितना सीखता है, उतना ही जीवन की चुनौतियों का सामना करने के लिए भी तैयार होता है।

आज के डिजिटल युग में बच्चों का अधिकांश समय मोबाइल और स्क्रीन पर बीतता है। ऐसे समय में खेलों से जुड़ना पहले से कहीं अधिक आवश्यक हो गया है। नियमित खेल गतिविधियाँ बच्चों को स्वस्थ, सक्रिय और सकारात्मक बनाती हैं। साथ ही उनमें समय का महत्व, मेहनत का मूल्य और लक्ष्य प्राप्त करने का संकल्प विकसित होता है।

वॉलीबॉल ऐसा खेल है जो टीमवर्क, तेज निर्णय क्षमता और आपसी विश्वास की भावना को मजबूत करता है। इस खेल में प्रत्येक खिलाड़ी की भूमिका महत्वपूर्ण होती है और सफलता पूरे दल के सामूहिक प्रयास से मिलती है। यही सीख जीवन के हर क्षेत्र में उपयोगी सिद्ध होती है।

गुढ़ा पब्लिक स्कूल का उद्देश्य विद्यार्थियों को केवल शैक्षणिक शिक्षा देना नहीं, बल्कि खेलों के माध्यम से उनका सर्वांगीण विकास करना भी है। विद्यालय में विभिन्न खेलों के लिए आधुनिक सुविधाएँ और प्रशिक्षित कोच उपलब्ध हैं, ताकि प्रत्येक विद्यार्थी अपनी प्रतिभा को पहचान सके और उसे नई ऊँचाइयों तक पहुँचा सके।

मेरा सभी विद्यार्थियों और अभिभावकों से आग्रह है कि खेलों को दैनिक जीवन का हिस्सा बनाएँ। खेल केवल पदक जीतने का माध्यम नहीं, बल्कि स्वस्थ शरीर, मजबूत चरित्र और सफल भविष्य की नींव हैं।

आइए, हम सभी मिलकर खेल संस्कृति को अपनाएँ और एक स्वस्थ, अनुशासित तथा आत्मविश्वासी भारत के निर्माण में अपना योगदान दें।

क्लिक से करियर तक- विद्यार्थियों की नई पहचान:कंप्यूटर

भविष्य उन्हीं का है जो तकनीक का केवल उपयोग नहीं करते, बल्कि उसे समझकर उसके माध्यम से नए विचारों और नवाचारों को जन्म देते हैं।

एक समय था जब सफलता का आधार केवल पुस्तकों का अध्ययन और परीक्षा में प्राप्त अंक माने जाते थे। आज परिस्थितियाँ बदल चुकी हैं। ज्ञान का विशाल संसार अब हमारी उँगलियों के एक स्पर्श पर उपलब्ध है। कंप्यूटर ने शिक्षा को कक्षा की सीमाओं से मुक्तकर वैश्विक ज्ञान से जोड़ दिया है।

आज का विद्यार्थी केवल जानकारी प्राप्त करने वाला नहीं, बल्कि सृजनकर्ता, नवप्रवर्तक और समस्याओं का समाधान खोजने वाला बन रहा है। एक साधारण कंप्यूटर की सहायता से वह वेबसाइट तैयार कर सकता है, मोबाइल अनुप्रयोग विकसित कर सकता है, रोबोट को प्रोग्राम कर सकता है, आकर्षक ग्राफिक डिजाइन बना सकता है, वीडियो संपादित कर सकता है तथा अपनी प्रतिभा को विश्वभर में प्रदर्शित कर सकता है।

कृत्रिम बुद्धिमत्ता, प्रोग्रामन, रोबोटिकी, साइबर सुरक्षा, आँकड़ा विज्ञान तथा डिजिटल अभिकल्पना जैसे क्षेत्र आने वाले वर्षों में असीमित संभावनाओं के द्वार खोलेंगे। जो विद्यार्थी आज कंप्यूटर और डिजिटल तकनीकों का ज्ञान अर्जित कर रहे हैं, वही भविष्य में नई तकनीकों के निर्माता और नेतृत्वकर्ता बनेंगे।

किन्तु तकनीक की वास्तविक शक्तिकेवल उसका उपयोग करने में नहीं, बल्कि उसका सदुपयोग करने में निहित है। कंप्यूटर का प्रयोग ज्ञानार्जन, अनुसंधान, नवाचार और समाज के हित में रचनात्मक कार्यों के लिए होना चाहिए। डिजिटल उत्तरदायित्व ही एक जागरूक और सफल विद्यार्थी की पहचान है।

आइए, हम केवल कंप्यूटर चलाना ही न सीखें, बल्कि उसके माध्यम से अपने उज्ज्वल भविष्य का निर्माण करना भी सीखें। आने वाला युग उन्हीं का होगा जो तकनीक के साथ रचनात्मकता, मानवीय संवेदनाओं और नैतिक मूल्यों को समान महत्त्व देंगे।

-संदीप लाम्बा,
कम्प्यूटर ऑपरेटर

डिजिटल जनरेशन : जब कम्प्यूटर सिर्फ मशीन नहीं, आपकी सुपरपावर बन जाता है-

आज की दुनिया में सबसे बड़ी ताकत सिर्फ जानकारी नहीं, बल्कि उसे सही तकनीक के साथ उपयोग करने की क्षमता है।

हम एक ऐसे दौर में जी रहे हैं जहाँ आर्टिफिशियल इंटेलिजेंस (AI), क्लाउड कंप्यूटिंग, रोबोटिक्स, वर्चुअल रियलिटी (VR), डेटा साइंस और साइबर सिक्योरिटी भविष्य नहीं, बल्कि वर्तमान बन चुके हैं। ऐसे समय में कंप्यूटर केवल पढ़ाई का साधन नहीं, बल्कि हर विद्यार्थी के सपनों को वास्तविकता में बदलने वाला सबसे शक्तिशाली प्लेटफॉर्म है।

आज का विद्यार्थी केवल किताबों तक सीमित नहीं है। वह कोड लिख सकता है, ग्राफिक्स डिजाइन कर सकता है, विडियो एडिटिंग सीख सकता है, 3D मॉडलस् बना सकता है, एप्स विकसित कर सकता है, वेबसाइड बना सकता है और एआई टूल की मदद से नई खोज कर सकता है।' यही कौशल आने वाले कल के नेतृत्व की पहचान बनेंगे।

आज दुनिया डिग्री से अधिक स्किलस को महत्व दे रही है। जो विद्यार्थी कंप्यूटर के साथ सीखना जानते हैं, वे हर क्षेत्र में आगे बढ़ सकते हैं 'चाहे वह शिक्षा हो, विज्ञान, चिकित्सा, व्यापार, मीडिया, रक्षा, अंतरिक्ष अनुसंधान या उद्यमिता।

कंप्यूटर हमें केवल जानकारी नहीं देता, बल्कि हमें 'क्रिएटिव थिंकर, स्मार्ट लर्नर और कॉन्फिडेंट प्रॉब्लम सॉल्वर' बनाता है। यह हमारी कल्पना को नवाचार में और हमारे विचारों को उपलब्धियों में बदलने की क्षमता देता है।

लेकिन हर तकनीक के साथ जिम्मेदारी भी जुड़ी होती है। डिजिटल दुनिया में सफलता केवल तेज होने से नहीं, बल्कि 'सुरक्षित, नैतिक और जिम्मेदार डिजिटल नागरिक' बनने से मिलती है। इसलिए तकनीक का उपयोग सीखने, सृजन करने और समाज के विकास के लिए करना ही सच्ची डिजिटल सफलता है।

आने वाला समय उन विद्यार्थियों का होगा जो केवल कंप्यूटर प्रयोग नहीं करेंगे, बल्कि नई सोच लाएं और नेतृत्व करेंगे। हर नया कौशल, हर नया विचार और हर नया प्रोजेक्ट भविष्य की सफलता की एक नई सीढ़ी है।
